Fire in New York Chinatown Slums Takes 8 Lives

Great Confusion as Blaze Rages Through Flimsy Tenements

Worst in 30 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—The worst Chinatown fire in 30 years raged through two teeming Doyer Street tenements early today, taking at least eight lives and menacing the whole area of crowded outworn buildings.

Excited, chattering Chinese and white residents of the district, routed from their beds by the clatter of engines responding to four alarms and the screams and shouts of desperate men and women fleeing for their lives, jammed the crooked narrow streets for hours.

The firemen, who were joined by Mayor LaGuardia during the height of the fire, worked under extreme difficulties in the twisting streets. Four were injured.

For half an hour after they had sighted a man clinging to a fire-escape which threatened at any moment to fall, the firemen worked under a protective barrage of water to rescue him. Eventually he was brought down, only to die later in a hospital.

The fierceness of the blaze and the rapidity with which it roared through the ancient wooden halls and dark cubicles of the tenements moved Mayor LaGuardia to declare that "Chinatown must go."

INQUIRY PLANNED

It also led to the announcement by the district attorney's office that an investigation would be started immediately to determine responsibility for the fire and the loss of life.

Chinatown, only a few blocks from the City Hall and the Civic Centre, lies just north of the Brooklyn Bridge at a point where the shabby Bowers with its steaming crowded lodging houses and cheap dives stems off from Chatham Square. There are three streets—Doyer, Mott and Pell—lined with tiny shops and restaurants with flaring signs and banners.

Noisy at night under the glare of many lamps, Chinatown had lapsed into darkness and sleep when the first faint crackle of flames and the drift of smoke in the tenement where the fire started roused one of its many occupants at 3:40 a.m.

He screamed a warning that sent others stumbling from their beds. One man slid down a pipe from a window of the dark hole in the wall he occupied on the second floor of 17 Doyer Street. Half-dressed Chinese men, women and children scrambled through the front doors of the two buildings, climbed from windows and ran crying down fire escapes.

One man stopped to dress. The firemen found him later, dead, with a half-burned sock in his hand.

Negotiations Fail

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Negotiations to open San Francisco Bay waterfronts broke down late today when the union and the employers clashed over whether suggested arbitration should be confined to the single issue which halted work last Saturday.

THE WEATHER

VICTORIA, 8 a.m. today—The depression dispersing over Queen Charlotte Islands has caused rain squalls on the British Columbia coast. Pressure is high over Washington state and the weather has been moderately warm with light scattered showers in the interior. Rains have been general throughout the southern sections of the prairie provinces.

Ken Black Wins Over Ted Colgate In P.N.W. Golf

Medalist Eliminates Victoria Star 4 and 3; Christopher Wins Easy

Steil Wins at 20th

Rallying on the last nine holes, Ken Black, Vancouver, yesterday's medalist, defeated Ted Colgate, Victoria, 4 and 3 in the first round of the Pacific Northwest men's golf championship at the Colwood club today.

After being 2 down at the fifth Black rallied and was all square at the ninth. The Vancouver star captured the 10th and 11th holes with pars to go 2 up. Colgate won back a hole at the 12th with a birdie three only to have Black win the 13th, 14th and 15th in 4, 4, 3 to close out the match on the 15th green.

Bob Morrison, Victoria, won a thrilling extra-hole match with Bud Campbell, Seattle, on the 19th. Morrison reached the ninth 1 up, but the pair were all square at the 18th. On the first extra hole Campbell, after catching a couple of traps, finally conceded the hole.

Black and Morrison will meet in the second round tomorrow. Art Christopher, Victoria, had no trouble, registering a 7 and 6 victory over C. W. Reid, Tacoma. Jack Westland, Seattle, defending champion, advanced into the second round by eliminating Jack Burns, Yakima, 6 and 4.

In an all-Seattle battle Gerry Bert put out the husky Ralph Whaley by 6 and 4.

Ken Lawson gave Victoria another spot in the second round when he returned back the threat of Lloyd Shaw, Los Angeles, 4 and 3.

Veteran Lee Stell, Seattle, survived a marathon battle, defeating his fellow-townsmen, Len Mitchell, at the 20th.

Complete results follow: Ken Black, Vancouver, defeated Ted Colgate, Victoria, 4 and 3. Bob Morrison, Victoria, defeated Bud Campbell, Seattle, at 19th. Art Christopher, Victoria, defeated C. W. Reid, Tacoma, 7 and 6. Forest Watson, Seattle, defeated Vic Painter, Victoria, 1 up. Scotty Campbell, Seattle, defeated Bud Haskell, Seattle, 3 and 2. Ken Lawson, Victoria, defeated Lloyd Shaw, Los Angeles, 4 and 3. Lee Griffiths, Seattle, defeated C. F. Thomas, Victoria, 6 and 5. Jack Westland, Seattle, defeated Jack Burns, Yakima, 6 and 4. Eddie Hogan, Portland, defeated A. S. G. Musgrave, 2 up. Gerry Bert, Seattle, defeated Ralph Whaley, Seattle, 6 and 4. Lee Stell, Seattle, defeated Len Mitchell, Seattle, at 20th. Bart Taro, Seattle, defeated Bob Tindall, Seattle, 4 and 3. Jack Ellis, Vancouver, defeated Don Thompson, Portland, 4 and 3. Harry Givan, Seattle, defeated Dr. M. Rosenblatt, Portland, 4 and 3.

Dr. K. K. Bridges, Portland, defeated Alan Taylor, Victoria, at 19th.

Freddy Painter, Victoria, defeated Jack Ballinger, Seattle, 3 and 1.

Cook Testifies He Saw Water Come Into Engine Room

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—First direct testimony water poured into the sunken submarine Squalus through the main induction system was given to the United States naval board of inquiry today by William Isaacs of Washington, D.C., the submarine's cook.

It was the first evidence offered to the board the ventilation system, previously blamed by some officers for the sinking, have been responsible for the disaster. Isaacs said he saw a sheet of water come out of the engine room's main induction duct, as he peered through a peephole in the engine-room bulkhead.

Then, in water knee deep, he fled from the battery-room to the safety of the control room.

SWATOW OCCUPIED BY JAPANESE

Armed Forces Seize City On South China Coast

HONGKONG (AP)—Japanese forces occupied the Kwangtung province port of Swatow Wednesday in a quick landing after months of comparative quiet in the south China war area.

Swatow, a city of 178,000, is 220 miles east of Canton. The British destroyer Tanet and the United States destroyer Pillsbury are in Swatow's inner harbor, safeguarding interests of the 80 Britons and 40 Americans there.

Missionary establishments at Swatow include the English, Presbyterian and American Baptist missions.

Foreign sources at Swatow report that at dawn air raids heralded the Japanese attack.

All British shippers, acting on advice from British officials, canceled calls at Swatow.

VOLCANIC ERUPTION OBSERVED ON STAR

Scientists in Convention At Milwaukee Told of Yerkes Discovery

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE Associated Press Science Editor MILWAUKEE—Discovery of a new celestial mystery, a star which appears to be having a volcanic eruption, was described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here today.

It looks at present, in photographs, much like an automobile headlight seen side-on in a dark night. A huge, fan-shaped beam of light is spreading outward from one side of the star. The light has much the same shape as a comet's tail and is called a cometary nebula.

This tail, or eruption, was discovered early this year at Yerkes Observatory and reported today by Dr. John Titus. Spectroscopes have identified the light as probably a reflected glow. The general opinion is that the eruption is gas.

The star has been named 1-1939 Orionis, from the fact that it is near the constellation of Orion. It lies in a black patch in the Milky Way, its magnitude nine, which means it is not visible without aid of a small telescope.

Ancient beliefs that the moon emits invisible rays which affect men were revived in a practical form by a study of the moon and the fluctuation in strength of radio broadcasts at night.

Dr. Harlan Stetson of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology reported on 20,000 measurements of radio broadcast signals in connection with the phases of the moon. He found the radio signals rise slightly in strength from the time of the new moon to within three days of the full moon.

Royal Ship Nears English Coast to Dock Tomorrow

Empress of Britain, Ahead of Schedule, Slows Down

Australia Docks First

By R. K. CARNEGIE Canadian Press Staff Writer Aboard R.M.S. Empress of Britain—On the first day of summer this Royal yacht neared the coast of England today with everything in readiness for the King and Queen's triumphal return to Southampton and London tomorrow.

Slightly ahead of schedule, the Empress reduced her speed to 15 knots and will enter the English Channel tonight on the last stage of the homeward voyage carrying their Majesties back from their Canadian-United States-Newfoundland tour.

A northeast wind blew across the liner's broad decks and the Royal party enjoyed its last full day of leisure before disembarking to receive the boisterous welcome being prepared in the great south coast port, which will be followed by London's greeting.

Visibility over the ocean was good and there was a moderate sea running. The King and Queen inspected members of the crew who were absent on duty when the general inspection was held yesterday.

At 8 a.m., P.S.T., the liner Empress of Australia, which carried the King and Queen to Canada last month, overtook and passed the Empress of Britain. The Britain is the faster ship, but because she was slowed down, the Australia, ploughing along at full speed, took the lead.

Their Majesties stood on the promenade deck and waved to those on the passing liner, who set up a great cheer of greeting.

The Queen wore a lavender blue wool suit with a matching hat and smiled at the nautical hail and farewell between the two ocean liners.

The King sent a message of "good luck" to Captain A. R. Meikle, commanding the Australia, who also was in command of the ship while it was a Royal yacht on the outward passage. Earlier His Majesty had inspected the Britain's engines and showed intimate knowledge of shipping mechanics.

The 24-hour log at 8 a.m., P.S.T., was 408 miles.

Royal Events On Air

According to a CBC announcement, the arrival of the King and Queen at Southampton, Eng., will be broadcast in Canada from 6 tomorrow morning, P.S.T., to 6:30, and the London railway station ceremonies from 8:15 to 9 a.m. A summary of welcome will be heard from 7:15 to 7:30 p.m.

Decision Soon On Privy Council Appeal Abolition

Argument On Bill Concluded Before Supreme Court

B.C. Case Heard

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today reserved its decision on the constitutional validity of a proposed Dominion law to abolish appeals from Canada to the judicial committee of the Privy Council in London.

Argument on the question in which representatives of the Dominion and four provincial governments joined issue ended today.

The question came before the court on a reference from the Dominion Government based on the bill introduced at the recent session of Parliament by Hon. C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George, Montreal.

The government is prepared to support the move to abolish appeals, but wants a court opinion as to the validity of action by the federal Parliament before proceeding further.

Alme Geoffrin, counsel for the Dominion, argued the federal Parliament had full power to abolish appeals, while counsel for Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia contended the power rested with the provincial legislatures and the Cahan bill would be ultra vires of Parliament.

B.C. ARGUMENT

The wind-up of the arguments was on a special point advanced by Eric Pepler, counsel for British Columbia, that the Dominion had no jurisdiction over Admiralty matters and no right to abolish appeals in Admiralty cases.

Mr. Geoffrin said the Statute of Westminster in 1931 conferred Admiralty jurisdiction on the federal Parliament. Throughout his argument Mr. Geoffrin relied largely on that statute as it gives the Dominion the power to amend or repeal British statutes applicable to Canada, and he contended the power extended to the Privy Council Acts of 1833 and 1844.

The reference will undoubtedly be taken to the Privy Council after the Supreme Court gives its decision, it is believed.

Escaped Convicts Hunted

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Two convicts, who assaulted a minister at Redding after they had escaped from a prison road camp, robbed a grocery store in East Oakland early today and fled in a stolen automobile.

The robbers were identified by police and Dave Schwartz, the grocer, as E. W. Richards and James O'Connell, Los Angeles convicts.

No British Trade Attack On Japan

Government Reported Avoiding Retaliation While Tientsin Dispute Remains Local

TOKIO (AP)—Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador to Japan, called on Renzo Sawada, vice-minister of foreign affairs, Wednesday to urge discontinuance of alleged discrimination against Britons in Tientsin. No prospect was apparent here of settling the controversy.

By J. F. SANDERSON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—The British Government has abandoned plans to impose economic sanctions against Japan while the Tientsin blockade remains local, it was reported today.

When the Japanese threw a cordon around the British concession in the north China city a week ago the British government laid plans to take economic retaliation against the Nipponese trade.

It is understood now these plans have been shelved and will stay there unless Japan forces the issue.

The British Government evidently takes the view that this is no moment to force a showdown with Japan—perhaps leading to war—particularly when the United States has shown no inclination to join Britain and France in retaliatory action.

Joint British-U.S. Blockade Of Japan On Pacific Urged

Harder Later Than Now to Stop Aggressor, Says N.Y. Daily News

NEW YORK—A Pacific Ocean blockade enforced by Britain and United States against Japan is urged by the Daily News, which says:

"The Japanese blockade situation at Tientsin and Amoy grow more ominous for the British. In a slightly less direct, less immediate way, they 'grow more ominous for us Americans.'"

"If the Japanese are determined to force a showdown between themselves and the white man in Asia, is there any way to give them as good as they send?"

"The Japanese Empire's seagoing trade could be choked off by the United States and Great Britain. To do it, we would have to enlarge on the present belief of some of our lawmakers that, to show our abhorrence of war, we ought to have self-denying ordinances forbidding American supplies to go to warring nations and keeping warring nations' ships from coming and getting American supplies."

"This blockade would mean that no Japanese merchant ship could go to any port in the western hemisphere, or to any East Indian port, or to Europe via the Indian Ocean. Japanese trade would be confined to the Asiatic mainland—where Japan is currently having grave trouble making the Chinese buy any Japanese goods, and no success at all in making them like it."

"Such an American-British effort to throttle Japan into tapering off its Asiatic imperialism would not have to be confined to a joint blockade. Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese fighting forces could be aided even more than they are being aided now, by increased shipments of American and British war supplies to the Chinese interior via British Burma and French Indo-China."

JAPAN HARD PRESSED

"Japan being already in fairly desperate straits in its war in China, the process of squeezing the Japanese military caste to its knees ought not to take very long. Our guess purely a guess—would be a year or so."

"It could be done. The other question is, should it be done?" "This newspaper is isolationist as regards American entry into another of Europe's habitual wars. Nor would we like to see read a statement in the House of Commons today on the Tientsin incident, in which he said the position of the Japanese government on the main issues is "still unclear and it is not yet decided whether these issues are to be discussed in Tokyo or Tientsin, but we expect to hear further on these matters today or tomorrow."

The Prime Minister's statement made no reference to the possible lines of action the British government may take if the blockade continues indefinitely. This subject was discussed earlier at a cabinet meeting which had latest reports from Tientsin, Swatow, Kulangsu and other danger points along the China coast.

One of the factors leading to uncertainty by the British government was delay by Tokio in replying to protests by Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador to Japan, to Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita and by Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, to Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain.

So far, Tokio has not made it plain whether Japan desires the Tientsin incident be settled on a local basis or whether wider questions of policy are to be involved.

Two Carry Supplies From Shanghai to British Concession

TIENTSIN—The eight-day-old Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions developed Wednesday into a determined test of patience between Britons and Japanese.

An official British report said 1,000 British women and children were being evacuated from the Tientsin foreign areas, preliminary to "an indefinite period of resistance."

Japanese military and diplomatic authorities indicated, on the other hand, they were "awaiting British overtures to break the present tense situation." They did not say, however, just what they expected beyond previous British overtures, principally a willingness to discuss the status of four Chinese alleged assassins held in the British concession. Refusal of British authorities to relinquish the four Chinese to the Japanese without proof of their guilt precipitated the blockade June 14.

One hundred British women and children began a 200-mile voyage to Peking, north on the China coast, in a Hai River craft. En route first to Tangku, down the Hai on the Chihli Gulf, they passed Japanese wharves where usually Japanese half and search the ships. The refugees' vessel passed unimpeded.

With the women and children were a number of Chinese nurses and a detachment of the Durham Light Infantry, who served as escorts. There were no tearful farewells. Everyone seemed delighted to get away.

Males in the British concession believed the evacuation of the women would make it easier for them to take care of themselves. The lack of milk and fresh food has been the most serious inconvenience. The British population of the concession was 1,500, including 21 Canadians.

Japanese military and diplomatic officials reiterated that the possible British surrender of the four accused Chinese "would not be sufficient to raise the blockade" and that a general adjustment of "relations between the two nations" would be insisted upon first.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—On an expedition to challenge on foot the loftiest peak in Arctic America, Bob Marshall, chief of the division of recreation and land use in the U.S. forest service, arrived here by airplane today from Washington, D.C., en route to pick up two hardy soundough mousers.

Marshall, with Jess Allen and Kenneth Harvey, the soundoughs, will make a 75-mile pack-train trip and then attempt to scale 10,000-foot Mount Denali, which never has been conquered by man. The peak, in the Endicott Range, is so steep that scarcely any snow clings to its precipitous slopes.

Marshall is a familiar figure in the Alaskan scene, having written "Arctic Village," a story dealing with Eskimo life.

FEW PROTESTS ON SALMON DEAL

Ottawa Says Japanese Sale to Britain Ordinary Transaction

OTTAWA (CP)—The recently reported purchase of 680,000 cases of Japanese canned salmon by British importers does not involve the British government directly or indirectly, but is merely a deal between private commercial interests, Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade, said today.

When the purchase, said to be worth $8,000,000, was reported two days ago, Mr. Euler immediately cabled the chief Canadian trade commissioner in London, Frederick Hudd, to investigate and report on the matter.

This reply has been received from Mr. Hudd: "Am in close touch with the situation. Inquiry in the trade indicates the transaction is usual purchase of Japanese production by British importers. Food defence plans department denies any knowledge of transaction in relation to government's food storage plans, and in any event government is not buying such supplies at the present time."

"Evidently the British government is not concerned with the purchase at all," Mr. Euler commented. "Private British importers are making these supposed purchases. No doubt price and quality will enter into the transaction in the usual way. "It may be significant that the department has received no protest from Canadian salmon packers."

The only protests received were from Vancouver groups, one yesterday from the Vancouver Embargo Council, composed of 100 various organizations, and one today from the Greater Vancouver Joint Boycott Council, composed of labor and professional people.

Duncan

DUNCAN — Duncan Kinsmen Club held its weekly meeting at the Cowichan Club, T. K. Kilpatrick presiding.

It was decided to help the Red Cross and Cowichan Health Centre in their annual joint drive for funds. The Kinsmen will handle the collection of funds in the business section of Duncan. Team captains were chosen as follows: P. E. Williams, Tony Lundie, Leo Robinson, Wilbur Sheardown and Basil Prevost.

It was also decided to support the sale of T.B. seals. Final arrangements for the entertainment Friday night, featuring William Harkness of Victoria, and the quiz contest between the Kinsmen and Rotary Club, were made.

It was decided to continue the meetings throughout the summer months.

Japanese Anti-British Moves at Peiping

SHANGHAI (AP)—Reports from Peiping and Tientsin Wednesday told of Japanese plans for demonstrations there against Great Britain and Soviet Russia.

Japanese accounts from Peiping said "memories of the Shakes Bund massacre, when Chinese demonstrators in Canton were machine-gunned by British bluejackets, will be revived here Friday on the 14th anniversary of the incident in the form of a giant anti-British demonstration."

The dispatches said that the "Society for National Salvation Through Peace," a Japanese-fostered organization, "will sponsor the demonstration," demanding a change in British policy in China.

French-Turkish Aid Pact Completed

ANKARA, Turkey (CP-Havas)—A long-standing dispute between France and Turkey over the strategic Sanjak of Alexandretta, lying between Turkey and Syria, was believed to be near an end today with the announcement that a Franco-Turkish mutual assistance pact will be signed here Thursday or Friday.

Simultaneously, a Turkish cabinet committee put finishing touches to a statute providing for the hitherto autonomous territory's incorporation in Turkey.

British Hasten Soviet Pact

London Hopes Barriers Will Be Swept Away With Agreement Reached Before Week-end

LONDON (CP)—In government circles and in the press today there was increased optimism that a mutual aid agreement with Russia would be completed this week.

It was stated Britain had instructed the envoys to assure Russia Britain would consider an attack on the Baltic states as menacing to Russia as an attack on Belgium or The Netherlands would be to Britain. Russia has demanded a guarantee of aid to Finland, Estonia and Latvia.

The remaining obstacle to an agreement, reliable sources said, was that Russia does not want a treaty to go into effect without supplementary understandings on military staff talks and naval co-operation.

Meanwhile official circles are confident barriers in the way of a mutual defence pact linking Great Britain, France and Russia will be swept away and that an agreement may be reached in Moscow by the week-end.

Offer Compromise To Bring Russia In

MOSCOW (AP)—British and French negotiators arranged to see Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov late today after receiving what were said to be new instructions from their governments to hasten negotiations by a compromise to overcome Russia's objections to joining the British-French mutual assistance agreement.

The meeting in the Kremlin will be the third time William Strang, special British envoy, and British and French ambassadors, Sir William Seeds and Paul Emile Naggar, have seen Molotov.

The new instructions from London and Paris, informed quarters said, were a compromise over guarantees to Russia's three Baltic neighbors, an issue which has been considered the main obstacle to an agreement.

Diplomatic observers said any proposal for British-French-Russian co-operation in the Far East was likely to involve mutual assistance in the defence of the three countries' interests, rather than guarantees of Russia's borders.

Germany Now Seeks Pact With Russia

BERLIN (AP)—German diplomats and trade experts were working today on a formula which they hope will bring Berlin and Moscow into a trade agreement after two failures in negotiations.

Count Friedrich von Schulenberg, German ambassador to Russia, has been in Berlin for a week sounding out his government on how far he may go in negotiations when he returns to Moscow.

The Daily Express Berlin correspondent states that a German trade and financial delegation is expected to leave for Moscow next week to reopen economic discussions with Russia.

Berlin Asks Recall Of British Agent

BERLIN (AP)—The Foreign Office announced today it has asked Great Britain to recall its consul-general in Vienna, Dr. St. Clair Gainer, as a result of the British government's action in asking Germany to recall Walter Reinhardt, Reich consul-general in Liverpool, accused of being involved in an espionage case.

A government spokesman said sufficient similar evidence had been assembled against Gainer to warrant a demand for his recall. Reinhardt, it was said, was leaving British soil at the time the announcement was made.

Gainer went to Vienna shortly after Anschluss of Austria with Germany in March, 1938. He took over conduct of British affairs in the former Austrian capital after the British legation was closed and it fell to him to absorb

Denies Anti-British Dealings With Hitler

LONDON (CP)—Prince Khalid Ibn-Abdoul, youngest son of King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, today issued through Reuters a denial in reply to Italian press reports that his visit to Hitler had been in connection with demands allegedly served on his father by Great Britain, Khalid Ibn-Abdoul, now in Germany, told Reuters: "We are good friends of Great Britain. I merely returned to Hitler the visit paid to the court of King Ibn Saud by the German Dr. Grubba last year. I am in Germany for reasons of health and have consulted several physicians."

Health Insurance Difficulties Seen

MONTREAL (CP)—Any national health insurance scheme in Canada "is met at once by constitutional difficulties which are now under consideration by the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations," Dr. K. A. MacKenzie of Halifax, retiring president of the Canadian Medical Association, said in his valedictory address today.

The address of Dr. MacKenzie, professor of medicine at Dalhousie University, was one item on a busy day's program at the annual convention as members heard technical papers presented.

"The problem is tremendous and complex and has implications which are still vaguely understood," he said. "The Canadian Medical Association has given a great deal of thought to the problem. The committee of economics has been active for years and much information has been gathered. The study is still being pursued vigorously."

"Realizing the immense difficulties of the problem, the association is of the opinion that no effort should be made to draft a complete plan. Health insurance is primarily the function of governments, but the association is in a position to give sound advice if and when asked for."

"It is obvious that a sound scheme can not be formulated without the assistance of the medical profession."

(The C.M.A. refrained Monday from a definite stand for or against compulsory health insurance, favored further study and retained H. H. Wolfenden, Toronto consulting actuary, to advise it.)

SUPPORT NEEDED

Dr. MacKenzie pleaded for a sympathetic public. A well-trained profession was not sufficient, he said. The profession was often accused of lack of unity, but he said the medical profession showed more unity in its general scope than any other branch of human activity.

"It has no secrets and no national boundaries," he said. "Any new discovery beneficial to suffering humanity is quickly heralded to all countries and no attempt is made to patent or selfishly control any product of medical science."

He felt that in spite of the profession's shortcomings there never was a time in history when the public received such efficient medical care as today.

The public was as anxious as the profession to get the best out of medicine, but the public too had shortcomings, Dr. MacKenzie said.

"Magic and superstition to a degree which few will admit still color human desires and decisions."

"Millions of dollars are still spent on nostrums. Secret remedies alleged by clever propaganda to perform miracles are frequently accepted by credulous people without the slightest attempt to apply reason or common sense."

NEW PRESIDENT

This evening Dr. F. S. Patch, successor to Dr. MacKenzie as president of the association, will be installed.

Other officers elected yesterday are: Chairman of general council, Dr. T. H. Leggett, Ottawa, re-elected; honorary treasurer, Dr. Slater Lewis, Montreal, re-elected. Members of the executive include Dr. G. F. Strong, Vancouver.

Britain Ready To Greet King

Londoners Prepare To Turn Out in Masses Tomorrow

LONDON—Final touches were put today to the program for the reception of the King and Queen at Southampton and London tomorrow while the nation prepared to greet them with enthusiasm rivalling scenes at the Coronation two years ago.

Everyone, including the King's two daughters, will be up early in Buckingham Palace tomorrow. Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose are due to leave for Portsmouth in time to board the flotilla leader, Kempenfelt, and sail down the Channel to meet their parents' liner in the Solent.

The Princesses attended the horse show at Olympia in London today—their last outing before their parents' return. Queen Mother Mary, who usually accompanies her grandchildren on such expeditions, rested at home. She wished to avoid tiring herself on the eve of the arrival of her son and daughter-in-law.

The Queen Mother, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, the Duke and Duchess of Kent and the Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood will go to Southampton by special train to meet the King and Queen as they disembark.

THURSDAY EVENTS

Here is a timetable for the principal events tomorrow: 8.50 a.m. (11.50 tonight, P.S.T.)—The Princesses leave Waterloo Station.

12.45 p.m.—Special train with Royal relatives leaves for Southampton.

2.00 p.m.—Special train arrives at Southampton.

2.50 p.m. (5.50 a.m., P.S.T.)—Empress of Britain reaches Southampton.

3.20 p.m.—The King and Queen land.

3.55 p.m.—Special train leaves for London.

5.25 p.m. (8.25 a.m., P.S.T.)—Special train arrives at Waterloo Station.

5.30 p.m.—Carriage procession leaves station for Buckingham Palace.

Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose will ride in the same carriage with their parents through the streets to the palace to hear and see the acclaim of the London crowds. The Royal suite will follow in other carriages. At Buckingham Palace a detachment of the King's guard will be drawn up in the forecourt.

London's West End will present a carnival scene tomorrow night. Fashionable hotels will give special parties to celebrate conclusion of the momentous tour.

The ordinary citizen whose means do not run to such splurges will be content to drink their Majesties' health in a glass of beer.

INFORMAL RECEPTION

The King and Queen have asked that the reception plans be kept as informal as possible. That is why no guards of honor will be posted at the station and no troops will line the route to Buckingham Palace.

Thousands of Londoners are planning how they can get vantage points along the route of the drive through the streets.

Thursday will be a half-holiday in the Borough of Lambeth in which Waterloo Station is situated, giving an opportunity to thousands to seize the key positions early.

Prime Minister Chamberlain informed the House of Commons that at the beginning of business tomorrow he will move a motion for an address to His Majesty. A similar motion will be introduced in the House of Lords.

It was planned, said Mr. Chamberlain, for the House to suspend probably from 5.15 p.m. to 6 p.m. Members will assemble on the pavement adjoining the new palace yard and the opposite side of the roadway.

It was announced the welcome will be televised from the moment the Empress of Britain enters Southampton until the King and Queen reach Buckingham Palace.

A Te Deum will be sung at St.

Veteran Mining Engineer Passes

CUMBERLAND, B.C. (CP)—Alexander Walker, 74, one of the oldest residents of this northern Vancouver Island town, died at his home here yesterday.

Walker retired only two years ago after 48 years employment by the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited as a hoisting engineer. He had been in apparent good health until the time of his death.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Wilson at Nanaimo, and Mrs. Clark, Ioco.

Britain's Ships
Paramount Force,
Says U.S. Writer

NEW YORK (CP)—Much is heard of huge conscript armies and mighty air forces, but despite this the British Navy maintains its traditional role as one of the paramount forces in European affairs, said Ralph Barnes, New York Herald Tribune correspondent, in a London dispatch to his paper.

Every primary move in a European chancellery today is influenced by the existence of the British fleet, he added.

Though Germany and Italy may hold an advantage over the western European democracies in air power, Great Britain and France have geared their industries to give them equality in the air with the axis alliance in the near future, Barnes said.

The dispatch continued: "If, in the case it were to come to a fight, Soviet Russia were to prove a sure ally of Britain and France, the combined air power of this triangle would provide a formidable opponent for Germany and Italy. Moreover, Russia's great manpower would be available where most required, the border states of eastern Europe."

"Experience in the Great War proved the danger of attempting to predict developments in a general European conflict.

IN CASE OF DEADLOCK

"Yet it is conceivable that in the next war it would come to a deadlock on land and in the air. In such a case what would be left?—the British fleet. This conclusion is based on the supposition that roughly the navies of France and Italy would neutralize each other, and that, except for submarines, the small German naval force would be occupied primarily in the Baltic.

"The threat to the British fleet from submarines and airplanes? Experts at the British Admiralty hold that the fleet will be able to cope with the menace, and that the fundamental strategy of sea power remains substantially what it has been in the past.

"Be this as it may, every primary move in a European chancellery today is influenced directly or indirectly by the existence of the British fleet. Without the fleet, the balance would swing so violently in favor of the axis alliance that Chancellor Adolph Hitler and Premier Benito Mussolini could prepare immediately for a field day of new exploits beyond the present German and Italian frontiers.

"Admiral Nelson, the man who prevented Napoleon from bringing Britain to her knees, said that British battleships were the best negotiators."

Today, most students of the Great War held to the view that the strangling effect of the blockade, which British sea power made possible, had a great deal to do with the final decision. Capitulation to blockade is a phrase often used to describe what happened to the Central powers.

"Sea power should not, of course, be emphasized to the exclusion of other factors. But in studying the European scene of today it is important to note that it is the British fleet which seems to provide the balance, as it did in 1914."

OUTPUT OF BREN GUNS INCREASES

LONDON (CP)—Production of Bren guns is proceeding according to schedule in Canada and the government has received "satisfactory reports" regarding progress of the new plant for their manufacture there, the House of Commons was informed yesterday by Leslie Hore-Belisha, War Secretary.

Answering a question from Harry Day, Labor, on details of Bren gun production in the United Kingdom and the Dominions, Mr. Hore-Belisha said:

"The output is steadily increasing, but the honorable gentleman will not expect me to give the figures. Satisfactory reports have been received in regard to the progress of the new plant in Canada.

"Manufacture in Australia and the Union of South Africa is not being undertaken on behalf of His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom."

Mr. Day—"Can the War Minister say whether manufacturers are now taking place in India?"

Mr. Hore-Belisha—"I don't think so."

Caution Urged
In Insurance
For UnemployedPresident Black Tells Manufacturers It Will Mean Heavy Bills

BIGWIN ISLAND, Ont. (CP)—Unemployment insurance for Canada is urged by W. D. Black, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, as risky, involving heavy obligations. Addressing the annual meeting of the association today he reviewed schemes effective in Great Britain and other countries.

Canada, he said, by virtue of her high export standing and her heavy debtor economy, was in the same position of a man who having involved himself in heavy commitments, is obliged to strain every nerve to sustain and increase his income and avoid further costly revenues.

"Whatever tentative limits may be set to its operations in the first instance, the inherent capacity and tendency of the costs of unemployment insurance to vastly exceed all estimates and expectations, render it a risk very conclusively not worth the running," said Mr. Black. "We have too much at stake, the obligations probable to be incurred are much too high and the chances of the venture weigh heavily against us."

GROWTH OF SCHEME

Tracing the development of national unemployment insurance in Britain since its introduction in 1911, the president showed that the scheme lost its initial "insurance" character in the post-war years when it was extended to embrace approximately 11,000,000 persons as against the 2,250,000 to whom it had previously applied. The unemployment rate increased tremendously and what had started out as a scheme of insurance, Mr. Black said, became in effect a complicated form of "direct relief."

"In spite of the fact that the scale of contributions was stepped up steeply (to almost five times the original rate) the scheme ran into debt rapidly and extensively," Mr. Black continued. "The deficiencies were, therefore, made good by borrowing from the national exchequer, which was, at times, taxed to the extent of £100,000,000 per annum on behalf of the plan."

"The payments made after exhaustion of the insurance benefits proper were classified as 'transitional payments.' These were made at the same rate (an 'insurance' rather than 'relief' rate) as the preceding benefits."

In Mr. Black's opinion, these payments constituted an admission that unemployment insurance in the proper sense of the term and on a national scale "was neither adequate in resources, nor suited in operation to the social problems confronting it."

CANADIAN ACT

Referring to the provisions of the Canadian Employment and Social Insurance Act passed in 1935 but declared unconstitutional by the Privy Council and never put into effect, Mr. Black declared it was designed to be an "insurance" plan in the strict sense of the term. Excluded from its scope were a large number of seasonal occupations which are a distinctive feature of Canadian employment conditions.

After setting forth the exceptions, Mr. Black continued: "Consequently the act provided insurance for only a portion of those already employed, and this portion consisting of those least liable to the incidence of unemployment. It purposely and advisedly made no provisions for those in occupations subject to high frequency or long duration of unemployment."

"But more important than any of these considerations, the act completely ignored the most profound and pressing social problem of the day, the real problem of those already unemployed. It was obviously and admittedly powerless to provide in any manner, either by the provision of work or maintenance, or by the reinforcement of social morale for the assistance of those very people who by their great numbers and desperate plight created the social emergency which prompted the enactment in the first instance. In so far, therefore, as it was intended to attack the problem of unemployment in Canada

Old
Kentucky

this act was, and remains, not only inadequate but actually and literally useless."

Enforcement of social legislation, the putative benefits of which would be denied to certain portions of Canada's population though required to contribute to the cost of it by increased taxation or prices, would aggravate the sense of conflicting and opposed opinion existing between rural and urban communities, Mr. Black held. The administration of the 1935 act or any similar legislation also would require the establishment of a huge bureaucratic organization, he said, involving high administrative costs.

COST OF INSURANCE

Dealing with costs, the president said the Canadian act anticipated an annual cost to the exchequer of $14,000,000 as an absolute minimum and contingent upon ideal conditions of operation.

There was a possibility of these costs being tremendously exceeded, Mr. Black continued. "We have seen how in the course of a decade, the British scheme transformed a credit of £20,000,000 to a deficit of £115,000,000 while in four years the German plan ran $365,000,000 into debt and critically embarrassed the national solvency."

"We have no assurance of any kind that the same sequence of circumstances which brought about these well-known disastrous consequences in Britain and Germany may not transpire in Canada."

The question of an alternative to the Canadian act was a complex and difficult one, Mr. Black said, but there was no lack of suggestions from many sources and some instances of employment protection upon a national scale, differing in important essentials from the British and German schemes, were available.

WOLFENDEN PLAN

In this connection, he reviewed the development of unemployment insurance in Switzerland and Belgium, and declared an interesting plan had been proposed by Hugh H. Wolfenden, a well-known Canadian actuary.

Mr. Wolfenden's plan, he said, envisioned three distinct and separate funds available for the assistance of the worker as his unemployment continued. An "unemployment assistance fund," supported by contributions from workers and employers, in a general way, would be to provide for the initial period of unemployment during which an early return to work might be presumed.

When rights of benefit under this fund had been exhausted, an "employees' saving fund," derived from compulsory savings of workers while employed and supplemented assistance from the state would become available. When this secondary recourse failed the state would provide "relief" upon a basis of both "means" and "need" and subject to the performance of appropriate services if required.

TORONTO (CP)—Robert L. Musk, 21-year-old Prince Albert, Sask., youth, arrived here yesterday after completing a 50,000-mile tour, made mostly on foot, through 36 countries on four continents. Musk was born in Prince Albert and attended high school here.

During his adventure he explored African jungle rivers in a native dug-out canoe, hiked through the famous Khyber Pass in India and chummed with the primitive peoples of Asia's interior.

ARGUMENT ON EPSTEIN'S 'ADAM'Critics Describe His
New Sculpture as Insult to Art

By GUY E. RHOADES
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON—Sculptor Jacob Epstein, who gets himself into more type-and-newsprint tangles than any other artist except, perhaps, his Mexican colleague, Diego Rivera, has brought the horns around his head again with a giant monolith called "Adam."

Fifteen months' chipping at three tons of alabaster produced a chunky figure of the first son of the soil, that portrayed him "searching, seeking, questioning, yearning—the appetites, aspirations and evolution of mankind." Those were Epstein's words. The critics, pained at his newest excursion into the realm of "neopaganism," used others, among them "obscene," "a shameful exhibition," "crude and shocking," "an insult to art."

One critic called the work a "biologist's nightmare," bringing from the artist the rejoinder: "That's just a couple of words. My aim is not biological. My aim is the creation of sculpture. I don't give lessons in biology."

There were some who did not agree Adam was obscene, but they were in a considerable minority.

Adam, seven feet high, stands on massive legs, sticks a prognathous posterior in the camera's eye, clutches with huge hands his swelling chest and tilts his Egyptian head toward the sky with an appearance of yearning. Across his shoulders a great shock of hair falls.

Epstein has remained unperturbed by the adverse criticism, although he admitted it did not help his income. He has already been in plenty of hot water over things he has done for decorations of buildings, and his "Consummatus Est," giant "neopagan" figure of Christ, has been lying around unsold for two years.

He holds the critics are anywhere from 20 to 50 years behind the times, or behind him, anyway. But he is not surprised, knowing about a lot of artistic predecessors who have been in the same fix for one reason or another.

Nevertheless, he reads all the critics write about him. He says: "That pretended modesty on the part of the artist—I have not got it. But if the critics don't like my work they can be very damaging and I don't get any commissions."

He maintains there is always enmity between critics and artists and that "all the nonproducing people are against the creative people" because "there is a natural jealousy dividing them."

British Flier Killed

LONDON (CP)—Sergeant Davis of the Royal Air Force was killed when his Hurricane combat plane crashed at Ditchline Common, Sussex, in a storm yesterday. He was traveling more than 400 miles an hour when he struck. The wreckage was scattered for hundreds of yards and the motor buried itself more than five feet in the earth.

SPEAKERS TO WIDEN
ANTI-CANCER DRIVEPlans Laid Before
Canadian Medical Association Delegates

MONTREAL (CP)—A drive to show the menace of cancer in Canada was forecast to the Canadian Medical Association's general council at the 70th annual convention here yesterday. Public addresses will be given at various points.

Dr. A. G. Nicholls of Montreal said there was more cancer in Canada than ever. He said it stood next to heart disease as responsible for the greatest death toll.

Dr. Nicholls, editor of the association's journal, outlined to reporters the report of Dr. J. S. McEachern of Calgary on the association's cancer committee.

A cancer organization was created under the King George V Silver Jubilee Cancer Fund and it entrusted to the C.M.A. the annual income from investments to organize a cancer campaign.

Under chairmanship of Dr. T. C. Routley of Toronto, this body will with nation-wide membership initiated formation of the Canadian society for control of the disease. It is national in scope and contains medical and lay members.

It is planned to have cancer committees in the principal hospitals of the country and the public will be asked to support the move.

In the report of the welfare committee, Dr. D. J. McQueen of Winnipeg considered Manitoba with a maternal mortality rate of 2.75 had the lowest in Canada. The situation throughout the country was improving.

An Important Meeting

ANOTHER ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island will begin its sessions at the Empress Hotel this evening and continue through tomorrow. Fifty businessmen from no fewer than 13 island centres are expected to be in attendance. Victoria Chamber of Commerce, of course, will fill the role as host to the visiting delegates.

The importance of these yearly meetings may not be adequately understood or appreciated by those whose more or less ordered lives in this community are undisturbed by the problems—often vexatious and perplexing—with which the numerous settled and sparsely-inhabited areas of Vancouver Island are continually confronted. It is only through the personal contact such gatherings afford that matters which, after all, are of common concern can be examined and discussed intelligently. This is not to say that such examinations and discussions are always productive of remedies; but it is to say that if the leaders of public activity are enabled to familiarize themselves with conditions generally they are then in a position to exert combined effort with a reasonable prospect of obtaining corrective action.

Even as recently as 20 years ago communication between the various communities which represent the industrial and rural life of Vancouver Island was such that a journey from Victoria to Nanaimo, or Victoria to Courtenay, was considered an event for which a good deal of preparation required to be made. The march of science has altered all that. New means of transportation, speedy and comfortable, is playing a part in the changing nature of men's affairs in this part of British Columbia—and the end is not yet. Before we are much older the sections represented at this gathering of the Associated Boards of Trade will be something akin to next-door neighbors, with a much more potent meaning than is at the moment realized.

For these and other equally obvious reasons it is fitting that the more densely populated areas of Vancouver Island should be better acquainted with the unsolved problems which are hampering progress elsewhere. It is not enough to swear undying co-operation and sympathy at the banquet table. Platitudes and high-sounding phrases are harmless enough as parts of post-prandial dissertations; but, to use the homely adage, they "butter no parsnips."

The important point for Victoria to remember in the deliberations of this gathering, incidentally, is that as this capital city of British Columbia extends its helping hand to other communities less fortunately placed so will it be assisting itself. We progress together. If our visitors can be made to feel that local bodies are not too wrapped up in their own activities to think of the welfare of the whole—this state of mind should be evident at all times—the coming years should witness the reaping of the benefits of practical co-operation.

Scrap Metal

DURING THE LAST SIX MONTHS Great Britain exported a little more than 80,000 tons of scrap metal to Germany for which British traders were paid $580,000—normally $2,900,000. It is not necessary to point out, of course, that this metal was not used for the manufacture of ploughshares, teaspoons, or butter knives. It was required for guns and war paraphernalia.

It is a well-known fact that in Germany the scarcity of metals is such that they are now tearing down railings round public places and rushing them off to the steel works to get them smelted down for munitions. Some idea of the scale of Nazi war activity can be gauged by the fact that their present steel production is exactly double that of Britain. In other words, scrap metal exported to Germany is virtually war material. British steel for German shells for British Tommies!

It will be argued—and rightly so—that this is legitimate business. Great Britain is an exporting nation as well as an importing nation, and so long as her customers are able to pay for what they buy, there is very little that can be done about it. But the transaction to which we have referred merely tends to emphasize the futility and stupidity of national and international policies that keep alive the fires of suspicion—furnish continual opportunity for profit in arms—and add to the difficulty of staying off a major conflagration.

Roosevelt On Advertising

PURCHASING POWER, PRODUCTION and advertising are "interdependent and stand or fall together." This is a phrase contained in a communication from President Roosevelt to the delegates attending the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Advertising Federation of America now in session in New York.

It is natural for a newspaper to agree with the opinion to which the chief executive of the United States has given expression. But there is a good deal more in the President's estimate of the value of advertising than may strike the uninitiated on first thoughts. Primarily, of course, the salesman represented by the printed word must conform to two fundamental principles if maximum returns are to be obtained. They are: Constant reiteration and simplicity of appeal. If these be the bases of publicity matter honestly devoted to attract the attention of the consuming public, the argument in support of this or that commodity, the interdependence of advertising with purchasing power and production will emphatically manifest itself.

In recent years advertising literature has undergone a striking metamorphosis, not only in descriptive material, but also in the form of its typographical and illustrative presentation. It may well be that much of it is fulsome, that lengthy essays on the virtues of this or that commodity have overstepped the bounds of that reiteration which is essential to anchor the public mind in this keenly-competitive age, but the fact remains that advertising material generally at this stage is conscientiously keeping pace with modern progress.

Newspaper advertising is more popular than ever because it presents to a whole family the case of the producer in a manner which invites unhurried consideration of the advertiser's claims. It is a store window in print. And the greater the demand for the advertised products the greater the demand for production—with the increased purchasing power thus created.

Labor's Gain

ALTHOUGH HIS FOLLOWING IN THE House of Commons is still sufficient to insure the easy passage of government legislation, Prime Minister Chamberlain can scarcely treat the result of the recent by-election in the Kennington division of the London borough of Lambeth as a negligible intimation of the way the political wind continues to blow in many parts of Great Britain. His administration lost the seat in a straight fight with a candidate carrying the colors of the Labor opposition. Nor was it even a close contest. Here are the figures:

Mr. L. Wilmot, Labor, 10,715.

Major A. Kennedy, Conservative, 7,119.

It will be seen from the above that the anti-government candidate rolled up a majority of 3,596—compared with a Conservative majority in the general election of 1935 of 545—while Mr. Wilmot's victory represents Labor's 12th gain in four years. These gains, incidentally, must be reckoned with very substantially-reduced majorities by which the administration has won its contested seats in the corresponding period. Kennington has changed hands several times since the war, giving the Conservative party four wins, Coalition Liberal one, and Labor three, the recent one being marked by the largest majority since Sir George Harvey won it for the Baldwin government by a margin of more than 8,000 in 1931.

Industries of Nippon

ON HIS WAY BACK TO VANCOUVER from a round-the-world tour, Mr. H. R. MacMillan, head of the large lumber-exporting firm bearing his name, was interviewed in Toronto, and to newspapermen there he spoke with some emphasis of the tremendous industrial expansion he saw taking place in Japan.

"New factories are being built and old factories are being remodeled," Mr. MacMillan told his interviewers. "The Japanese industrialists are doing some very effective work in bringing their technique of manufacturing up to the highest standard. They are going in for cotton, woolen and rayon textiles; chemicals, light metals, heavy manufacturing, in fact everything. It is the stated policy of Japan that they will not import manufactured articles in any instances where they can import the raw material and manufacture themselves. It is an enormous industrial effort, and it will bring about a vital change in the trade situation of the world. Where Japan formerly bought newsprint she will now buy pulp, where she formerly purchased lumber, she will now bring in logs."

Particular interest centres in Mr. MacMillan's reference to Japan's industrial progress if only for the reason that Nippon is faced with the necessity of greatly increasing sales of the products of her factories abroad in order to obtain foreign currency or its equivalent in credit. By the same token, however, her success or failure will depend to a considerable extent on her behavior in China—and the manner in which she goes about the establishment of what she conveniently calls the "new order" in the Orient.

AN IMPORTANT GAIN

From Toronto Saturday Night
Magnificent as have been the demonstrations of affection with which the American people hailed Their Majesties wherever they appeared, it will be well not to over-estimate their importance as indications of the attitude of the American people in regard to foreign relationships.

Nevertheless, some permanent changes have undoubtedly been wrought even in the United States. It will surely never again be possible for anybody to get himself elected mayor of Chicago by promising to "punch King George in the snoot." Some vestigial ideas concerning the groaning of British and Canadian subjects under the tyranny of an autocratic royal ruler must surely have been at last obliterated. Those who are awake to subtle distinctions can hardly have failed to note, from the presence of Mr. Mackenzie King as the sole minister accompanying the Royal Pair, that His Majesty's foreign relations so far as the United States are concerned are as much if not more the business of Canada than the business of Great Britain. Americans will realize that if the capital of the British Empire has not yet been removed to Canada, there is unquestionably a capital of the British Empire in Canada, and its importance is growing. When Canadians themselves realize the fact, its importance will grow even faster.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

IN VICTORIA

MR. W. M. DAVIDSON, a veteran newspaper editor of Calgary, writes in the Albertan of that city that he recently saw Adolf Hitler in a Victoria street car. He says there could be no doubt about it. The Fuehrer, when sighted by Mr. Davidson, was "rather humble and subdued and without any bodyguard or shatter-proof glass," which makes the story seem a little doubtful at the start.

However, Mr. Davidson says "he came in and sat down on one of the cross seats. There he was, with the closely-cropped little mustache, the dyspeptic glower and the far-away look in his eye." Mr. Davidson's companion agreed there could be no doubt about the gentleman's identity. When the man with the mustache left the car and the conductor discovered that he hadn't paid his fare; there was no further doubt in Mr. Davidson's mind. It must have been Hitler all right.

What he was doing here one cannot imagine. Perhaps, a trifle jealous of our local celebrities, he was attracted by our Cadborosaurus (now deceased), our white bear and the world-famous bootblack who, according to Collier's Weekly, insists on an advance appointment before he will shine your shoes. Probably we can do without Hitler. We have enough strange cases of our own. All of them are not in the sea, either, or behind bars at Beacon Hill.

TOO MANY BRAINS

CURIOSITY ENOUGH, I was talking about such things today to my old friend Mr. Posey, who shines shoes, but, being a democrat, requires no advance appointment. Mr. Posey said too much nonsense was talked about government and such things these days.

"You take this job of Roosevelt's," Mr. Posey said. "I hear a lot of talking about this job of Roosevelt's, but it isn't anything really. One thing you don't need any intelligence for is to be President of the United States. All you got to do is your job, like anybody else. If you got brains, you just worry yourself to death, that's all, and it don't do anybody any good. It's too much intelligence is ruining everything. If people wouldn't only keep butting in and would keep doing their own job we'd get along all right, but no, they got to keep butting in and using their intelligence. Mind you, intelligence is all very well if you leave it alone. That's what I do, and I guess I'm the happiest man in town, but if I was to go around using it all the time it would play the devil with me. I tell you what it is, if people would stop thinking so much and go to the horse races, that would circulate the money around and everybody would be happy. But no, they got to keep using their brains and thinking us into a depression again."

THE MISER
SPEAKING OF WHICH, I note an increasing misuse of intelligence next door. "You know what he did," said the little girl from next door, referring, of course, to her brother, "he saved up $2 and started a bank account. Just imagine a meany who would put his money in the bank! I always knew he was mean from the day he started drinking his bath."

"Yes, when you're poor and on relief you'll be coming to me," said he, "and I won't give you a nickel. It's for my old age, that money is, or else a new horn for my bike."

"Yes, and how did you save it? You pretended to help with planting the vegetable garden and now you charge Mummy a cent for every vegetable she gets. Yes, and imagine it, you make her go and pick the vegetables herself! You don't weed them. You don't water them. You just collect on them."

The absentee landlord, the entrepreneur, the wizard of finance, could not deny this charge, for it is true. He made the reply that all great financiers make to similar charges. He smirked.

"Well," he said, "at least there are nickels in my bank. I didn't put marbles in it to make it rattle so people would think I was waving my money when I was buying ice cream cones like you."

"You're a miser," said she. "You'll grow old and dried up like a cabbage and nobody will marry you, and you can go around shaking your bank and listening to it rattle but nobody will marry you. I won't anyway."

A BALLADE OF COMPULSION

I must look up my errand Muse;
Brush up my wits, pen up my ink
A fine acumen I must use—
Why, I may even have to think!
Of the Pierian spring I'll drink,
The bowl of Samian wine I'll quaff;
I must plunge boldly over the brink
A challenge always starts me off!

A theme song I would faine effuse,
As sweet as trill of Bobolink:
Perchance invent some classic blues
Meet for the timbrel's tink-a-tink;
Melodious words that chime and clink
Like orchestras, or parts thereof—
Would the Boss toss it in the Zinc?
A challenge always starts me off!

Song of Tomorrow, shall I choose?
With its ingenious pulp or kink?
But I must mind my p's and q's,
Nor to a trite conception sink;
No Tribute to a Mountain Pink,
No threnody for Gortchakoff;
No ode of Skylark or to Skink,
A challenge always starts me off!

L'ENVOI

Sir: though your spirit cringe and shrink,
Though your good taste may spurn and scoff,
Give this a merry nod and wink;
A challenge always starts me off!

A Party Break-up

From Winnipeg Free Press

It would be a political event of first importance if one of the old parties which have been alternately governing Canada since Confederation were to be completely disrupted and disappear from the scene. Yet the imminent possibility of this fate overtaking the party which was led by Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Robert Borden, is foreseen by Saturday Night. The serious split in the Conservative party, it thinks, means an attempt of the Meighen Conservatives in the Senate to break up the party and throw the support of its right wing to the Liberal party, on condition that Liberal policy would be definitely and consistently rightist.

"The destiny of the federal Conservative party is left in the gravest uncertainty," says this publication. It doubts that Dr. Manion can retain the leadership. Suspecting that Mr. Meighen and his friends are looking to a new political alignment as a result of the next election, it says: "Our theory is that they believe it (the Conservative party) has come to the end of its usefulness and are preparing to meet a new and unprecedented political situation."

The reason for the party split is not merely Dr. Manion's leadership but also the progressive attitude taken by the party itself in convention last summer. Not only did Dr. Manion defy the reactionaries in the party, but the convention elected him after that speech, and it also threw out of the window the policy of railway unification desired by many of the reactionaries.

Since then, there has been talk of a new party or a new alignment, and there has been an obvious and persistent attempt to discredit both the old parties—evidently part of the scheme to effect a new set-up in which there would be a strong rightist party.

How much actual support could any such plan obtain? It will be interesting to see what the feeling is in the Conservative party throughout the country with respect to the open breach that has lately developed.

But Saturday Night seems to have in mind too simple a realignment of parties. It suggests that any centre party that remained between the new rightist party and a strong leftist coalition, would be quite weak. Like the Liberal party in Great Britain. But there would be enough Liberals and Conservatives who did not wish to go either with a rightist party or with the radicals, to form a strong party in Canada, stronger than any party definitely rightist. The general political attitude in this country is at least moderately progressive.

CANADA LINK IN NAZI CHAIN?

Ottawa Press Correspondence
From Grace MacInnes
Sensational charges of a Nazi spy ring with Canadian headquarters in Montreal, linked up with the German consular office in that city were made by A. A. Heaps (C.C.F.) in discussing the official secrets bill. The Winnipeg member quoted from an article by an ex-member of the United States Federal Bureau of Investigation, describing how the German Consul in Montreal aided the escape of a fugitive from United States law by smuggling him on board a freighter in Montreal Harbor so that he was able to reach Germany. This man had been indicted for conspiring to steal military codes and confidential information.

EMPTY PENS

At Sherbrooke two special pens were provided to enable the Royal visitors to sign the guest book. But when the King went to write he found them both dry. He had to borrow a third from Sherbrooke's member of Parliament.

Three pens and two of them were dry—the two that had been especially designed to serve royalty; one pen and an extra pen as a precaution, but if there had been a dozen "spares" and all empty, the outcome would have been the same. Good pens, no ink, no result.

There is a parable somewhere in this; perhaps several parables. Beauty without intelligence, politeness without backbone, fine words without thought back of them—the world is full of empty pens.

GERMANY AS MR. HARTNELL'S "HAVEN"

To the Editor:—Your correspondent Mr. Hartnell writes from Germany, "I make no pretense of being a mindreader but I feel sure that the feelings of those thousands of workers was almost unanimously one of appreciation of what the government has done and is doing for them. Unless I had spent some four weeks studying labor and social conditions in various parts of Germany I would not be prepared to make such a statement, particularly because it is a generally known fact that the actual money wages of the German workers have not appreciably been raised in the six years of Hitler's government. But this is not really true because when there were between six and seven million unemployed the living standards of those who did have jobs suffered a good deal because it was the employed sections of the people who had to keep all the millions of idle."

The official German statistics show that from 1932 to 1938 the total income of the German workers increased by 22 per cent, while the number of workers increased 27 per cent, from 22,000,000 to 28,000,000. From this it is evident that money wages have decreased since Hitler came to power. Mr. Douglas Jay, an economist of All Souls College, Oxford, informs us that due to the increased cost of living "it is certainly true to say that the real income per hour of a German worker who had a job on January 30, 1933, has fallen since by over 30 per cent." Despite this fact, industrial production has increased from 1932 to 1938 by 146 per cent. In other words the workers' share of the national income has been cut in half under the Hitler regime. The rest of the national income has gone to those who live by owning, the average rate of dividends being doubled in six years. Undivided corporation profits increased by 400 per cent, and the number of millionaires increased during six years by 1,266, and multi-millionaires by 180.

The middle class and small business men have been ruined by the steamroller of monopoly capital, and in many ways have fared worse than machine workers who can at least be in the armament drive. Nevertheless, workers in the arms plants now have to work 10 hours per day at no increase in pay. All workers have lost the right of collective bargaining, all are subject to the law which can compel a man or woman to work at any place in Germany no matter how far removed from home. Minimum wages have been abolished and a maximum wage set.

The German Labor Front which Mr. Hartnell mentions as a "substitute" to the trade unions is certainly "ersatz" to the core. The first trustee appointed by Hitler to "represent" workers in the fake labor tribunals was none other than Herr Krupp, the world's greatest manufacturer of armaments.

Mr. Hartnell saw no "bludgeoning administered by the secret police." Of course not; the early swashbuckling days of the Nazi movement are past. Germany today has all the orderliness of a well swept cage. To mistake this outward passivity for true freedom is to misunderstand Dr. Goebbels' famous remark, "Any one may grumble or criticize the government who is not afraid to go to a concentration camp." The true situation was pointed out by Pope Pius XI in his speech on Christmas Eve, 1937:

"In Germany there is in fact a religious persecution. For long they stated and tried to make us believe that there was no persecution. There has rarely been a persecution so serious, so painful and so fearful and so disastrous in its widespread effects. This is a persecution in which neither the exercise of force nor the pressure of threats nor the subterfuge of cunning and artifice have been spared."

The Jew-baiting Julius Streicher may stage a side show for 300,000 alleged workers on May Day, and Goering may put on hair-raising air displays; but the real German people know to their sorrow that they are today the captives of German heavy industry which shares Hitler's ghastly designs. Everything from the baby's first story book to the last newspaper, theatre, cinema will be put to this end, until the brain of the tiniest child is penetrated by the glowing prayer, "Almighty God bless our weapons again... bless our battle."

Province Upheld On Gas Control

Mr. Justice McQuarrie Gives Reasons for Appeal Court's Ruling

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice W. G. McQuarrie based his finding the British Columbia Coal and Petroleum Products Control Board Act is valid on decision that it is legislation regulating property and civil rights and not trade and commerce, he said in reasons handed down today.

The three Appeal Court judges who heard the crown's appeal from the decision of Mr. Justice A. M. Manson that the act was ultra vires — Chief Justice Archer Martin, Mr. Justice Gordon Sloan and Mr. Justice McQuarrie — reached unanimous decision last week that the act is valid.

The chief justice and Mr. Justice Sloan handed down their reasons for judgment a few days ago. They argued along lines similar to Mr. Justice McQuarrie.

After considering arguments put forward by counsel for the nine gasoline distributing companies which instituted suit for a declaration the act was invalid so that a gasoline price reduction ordered under the act could not be put into effect, Mr. Justice McQuarrie said:

"The answer to all these far-fetched suggestions, even if true, that certain effects of a national or international character will follow this legislation in respect to a local matter, is that this is not legislation in relation to these extraneous matters."

He referred to a recent decision by the Privy Council's Judicial Committee that British Columbia's Natural Products Marketing Act of 1934 is valid, in which Lord Atkin said: "It is not passed in respect to trade and is therefore not subject to attack on that ground."

"In the same way the act under review is not passed in respect to or in relation to international trade or trade and commerce generally, much less inter-provincial trade," Mr. Justice McQuarrie said. "The latter is not even touched because the gasoline refined here is all sold in this province."

INJUNCTION PROCEDURE

When the Crown appealed from an injunction granted against the provincial fuel board's gasoline price cut order, Mr. Justice McQuarrie dissented from the court's upholding of the injunction order by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson of the Supreme Court.

Today, Mr. Justice McQuarrie said that his reasons for stating the act intra vires during the injunction hearing were reaffirmed and embodied "in this judgment in so far as the same may be applicable to the issues before us on this appeal."

"Council for the respondents (the gasoline companies) now frankly admits that 'price fixing' is the only real issue in this case and contends that as the Dominion has made provision under the Customs Act and customs tariff and amending acts for fixing the value of certain classes of articles exported to Canada for the imposition of additional special or dumping duties, it has directly or indirectly launched into the field of price-fixing and has therefore revoked the jurisdiction of the province to fix the price at which gasoline may be sold in British Columbia," Mr. Justice McQuarrie said.

"... I do not see that there is anything in that contention for the reason more particularly that,

Other symptoms of kidney and bladder weaknesses may be scant, burning or smarting passage—backache—leg cramps—puffy eyes. Get the original GOLD-MEDAL.

in my opinion, fixing of values for duty purposes and fixing of sale prices in the province are entirely different matters."

FRUIT AND OIL

The justice contended that if foreign fruit or vegetables were subject to provincial control after reaching British Columbia, so would be crude oil imported and used in the province.

"This must be so unless the court reaches the conclusion that provincial control of commodities depends on the nature of the product," he said.

"Will it be said that if crude oil imported would be subject to provincial control, its manufactured products, viz., gasoline, fuel oil, lubricants, etc., all manufactured from it in this province after the crude or raw material is imported into this province, would not also be subject to provincial control?"

Regarding the respondents' submission that the oil industry would have to raise the price of fuel oil to offset the gasoline price reduction, and consequently the local coal industry would benefit, Mr. Justice McQuarrie said:

"It would be strange if a powerful industry with two products to sell sold one product (gasoline) at excessive prices, giving rise to a local grievance, and, to suit their own purpose, sold the other product (heavy fuel oil) below cost, could by such methods resist control by way of price fixing."

If it followed, incidentally, that the coal industry was assisted by any reduction in the price of gasoline, the statute would not be wrong, he said.

GAMBLING RING IN VANCOUVER

Telford Says Syndicate Working in Seattle Extends into B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mayor J. Lyle Telford says he believes a gambling syndicate operating in Seattle extends to Vancouver.

"This group apparently has its operatives in Vancouver and Seattle," the mayor said. "When it gets too hot for them in Vancouver they go to Seattle and vice versa."

"Friends who have been working quietly on this thing have told me about it during the past three months. I have not discussed the matter with the police commission. I do not intend to take any position in the matter until I have more facts."

He said yesterday he knew the names of some of the men involved, but that it was hard to "prove anything," adding that he thought the situation could be more easily handled by federal or provincial police than by the city force.

"It would be no great difficulty to track this thing down if the governments would act," the mayor said.

Police Chief W. W. Foster yesterday told a service club the police must be free from attack by "irresponsible and uninformed parties, political or personal." If it were to operate to the utmost of its efficiency.

New Commander For Winnipeg District

OTTAWA (CP) — Lieut. Col. B. W. Browne, assistant adjutant and quartermaster general of Military District No. 1 at London, Ont., has been appointed officer commanding Military District No. 10 at Winnipeg. The Department of National Defence announced the change.

Lieut. Col. Browne, raised to the rank of colonel (temporary brigadier), succeeds Air Vice-Marshal J. L. Gordon, who has proceeded on leave of absence pending retirement on pension, owing to ill-health.

Vice-Marshal Gordon had a long and varied career in air force duties. He served during the Great War with the Royal Naval Air Force and the Royal Air Force. He was appointed officer commanding military District No. 12 at Regina in 1933, and in the following year was named officer commanding at Winnipeg.

Weddings

HUMPHREY-GREEN

A pretty wedding took place Saturday evening at 8 in St. Mark's Church when Ellen Mary, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Green, was united in marriage to Mr. Warren Lloyd Humphrey of Qualicum. Rev. O. L. Jull officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beautiful gown of white tulle, with a filmy veil worn beneath a wreath of orange blossom. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and carnations. The bridesmaids were: Miss Evelyn Green, sister of the bride, wearing a gown of green taffeta and a small circular veil to match, trimmed with flowers. Miss Dora Green, cousin of the bride, wore a gown of pink taffeta and pink circular veil. They carried bouquets of nepeta and pink stocks.

The best man was Mr. Jack Pascoe, and the ushers were: Mr. Jerry Edge and Mr. James Green.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, 866 Brett Avenue. The rooms were decorated with a profusion of summer flowers and the bride and groom received congratulations standing beneath a large white bell. The refreshment table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. Green.

Mrs. T. Green, mother of the bride, wore a purple gown with matching hat and a corsage bouquet of nepeta and stocks. Mrs. L. Humphrey, mother of the groom, wore a gown of brown and fawn and white picture hat. Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey will make their home in Saanich.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. L. Humphrey and son Stanley of Qualicum, and Miss Ethel Miller of Nanaimo.

TAYLOR-TURPEL

A very quiet wedding was solemnized this morning at 11 at St. John's Church, when Canon F. A. P. Chadwick united in marriage Lorna Ann, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Turpel, 2551 Quadra Street, and Robert William, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Taylor, Craigmillar Avenue.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The bride's sister, Miss Iris Turpel, was the bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by Mr. George A. ApJohn-Yardley.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for a motor trip through Washington and Oregon, and on their return will reside in Victoria.

Girl Students Fitter Now Than in 1904

MONTREAL (CP)—Taller, heavier and healthier, young women are 16 per cent physically fitter than they were 35 years ago, according to measurement records and tests of students attending McGill University since 1904.

Only 25.8 per cent of the women students in 1904 were classed as being fit for all forms of physical exercise, while of the present enrollment, 96.1 were declared fit, the records show.

The miss of 1904, who was 62.7 inches tall and weighed 119 pounds, has given away to Miss 1939—63.9 inches tall and weighing 125 pounds.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Mrs. Royden Morris has returned to Victoria after spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. McFarlane, in Vancouver.

Miss Janet Henderson, Crescent Road, left for Vancouver yesterday to visit her cousins, the Misses Doreen and Joyce Middleditch.

Mrs. D. A. Cameron and Mrs. H. B. McCurdy of Sydney, N.S., after visiting the latter's son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. G. A. McCurdy, St. Patrick Street, have left for Vancouver en route home.

Mrs. W. O. Findlay of Ottawa and her two children, after visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Mackay, St. Charles Street, for the last few weeks, will leave on Sunday for Vancouver, en route home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thompson, Kokislah, V.I., announce the engagement of their twin daughter, Margaret Alice Stewart (Peggy) to Const. Stuart Allister McKim, only son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. McKim, Salmon Arm, B.C. The wedding will take place quietly in July.

Mrs. J. L. R. Parsons, who has been staying with her brother, Mr. H. Weldon, Pemberton Road, left yesterday afternoon for New Brunswick, to spend the summer months with her mother, Mr. Weldon has gone over to Seattle for a few days, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Ann Critchley.

Miss Belle Leeming is visiting in Vancouver with Mrs. G. Melhuish and will return home on Friday.

Capt. and Mrs. W. A. Gosse, Oliver Street, Oak Bay, have as their guests Captain Gosse's mother, Mrs. J. Gosse, and Mrs. Gordon Simpson of Vancouver.

Mr. John Thompson has come south from Stewart, B.C., to attend the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, A.F. & A.M., in Victoria this week.

Miss Patricia Hamersley, Crescent Road, is visiting in Seattle for a few days as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Parvin, Broadmoor.

Among recent visitors to the British Columbia exhibit at Treasure Island were: Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Maynard, Dr. and Mrs. Cowan, Mr. Robert H. Cawley, Mrs. C. R. Savage, all of Victoria.

Mr. W. A. Noble, who has been filling the post of collector of customs at Stewart, B.C., during the absence in the south of Collector Walter Broad, has returned south to his home in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sehl, Wark Street, have staying with them for a month their daughter, Mrs. Daniel McBrady of San Francisco and her two children, Mary Elizabeth and Daniel John.

Miss Audrey Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Anderson, Malahat Farm, was one of the performers at the "Empire Day," held May 26 at the San Francisco Exposition on Treasure Island. She danced the Seann Truibhas and was also one of the group which danced the Highland Reel.

An enjoyable evening was spent recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Erith, 2727 Richmond Road, when they entertained at a "bon voyage" party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bell, who left on Sunday for a trip to England. Bridge was played, the prizes being won by Mrs. Alex Bell, Mrs. Wm. Cameron, Mr. Alex Bell and Mr. George Gordon. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bell, Mr. and Mrs. N. Camus, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon, Miss Georgeina MacKay, Mr. J. McBeth and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Erith.

A children's party was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Capt. and Mrs. A. M. Henderson, Crescent Road, the occasion being the ninth birthday of their daughter, Josephine. Games were played on the lawn, and the tea table was arranged with pink and mauve streamers, a birthday cake with nine candles, balloons and favors. The invited guests were Joan Whitnell, Patsy Garrard, Mavis Barnes, Valerie McIvor, Gloria Unwin, Mary Jo Noble, Eileen Chaster, Doreen Cooper, Irene Janek and Stewart Hagar, Billy Chaster, Billy Kenzie, David Paynter and Edward Janek.

James Bay Pupils Display Work

P.T.A. Hostesses At-Enjoyable Affair at School

Under the auspices of the James Bay Parent-Teacher Association an enjoyable afternoon was spent yesterday in the auditorium of South Park School. Mrs. E. G. Day, president, received the guests, among whom were Trustees F. G. Mulliner and P. E. George. Mrs. T. M. Ross, secretary of Quadra P.T.A., also attended.

An illuminating feature of the afternoon, and one which received much applause, was the fashion parade in dresses of their own making by girls of Grade VIII, under the guidance of Miss Mary Scott. Miss Scott was introduced by the president, Mrs. Day. The girls were later the guests of the P.T.A. to tea.

Another instructive feature was the art display by pupils of Grades VII and VIII, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Mary Croft. This display included block prints, linoleum patterns,

Displays of art work by other grades were also open to inspection by parents and friends. This display included pressed wild flowers, ornamented health books, maps, etc.

The little ones in Grade III are making an interesting scrap book of newspaper and magazine pictures in connection with the recent visit of Their Majesties through the Dominion. This is under the direction of their teacher, Miss Mae Murray. In this room there are also posters of incidents in Their Majesties' visit, together with a museum of Japan and Japanese costumes and customs.

The following musical program was enjoyed during the serving of tea: Piano solo, Waverley Matcham; recitation, Betty Roff; ballet dance, Beverly Cox, accompanied by Mrs. Ina Salmon; recitation by girls in Grade III, "The Duel," Phyllis Hudson, Lorna Raven, Winnie Butcher, Dillys Jones, Elaine Massick, Mildred Fell and Stella Rumsby; piano solo, Ted Fletcher; violin solo, Godfrey H. White, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Dorothy H. White. Miss Joy Merriman gave an amusing ventriloquial performance.

Refreshments were in charge of Mrs. W. Draper, assisted by Mrs. A. Stansfield, Mrs. Mary Bridger, Mrs. H. Stewart and Mrs. C. Hemstreet.

Royal Gifts Sent To Society Bride

Queen Mary Sends Cigarette Case to Lady Mary Lygon

LONDON—Queen Mary sent a silver cigarette case, with a lighter, as a wedding gift to Prince Vsevolode of Russia and Lady Mary Lygon, whose marriage took place at the Russian Church here.

The Duke and Duchess of Kent's present was a silver case-roler, while Princess Helene of Russia gave the bride a magnificent bracelet of pearls—diamond and sapphires on white gold—a double bracelet of diamonds, a bracelet set with aquamarines, rubies and rose diamonds, two amethyst and gold clips with a gold bracelet band, diamond earrings, sapphire and diamond earrings, and a solitaire diamond ring.

MRS. ASTAIRE GODMOTHER

Mrs. Fred Astaire, wife of the American film star, stood as godmother this week to the baby son of Mr. Henry Hunloke, M.P., and Lady Anne Hunloke. The christening took place in the crypt of the House of Commons.

Her sister-in-law, formerly Adele Astaire, is the wife of Lord Charles Cavendish.

Mrs. Astaire wore a novel white straw hat for the ceremony, with an underbrim of petersham which extended into a broad strip hanging below her shoulder. A wide, coarse-meshed veil round the hat and draped under the chin added the final note of smartness.

Mother Seeks Baby Lost in China

Chinese Dramatic Soprano Starts On Tragic Quest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A mother crooned lullabies across the Pacific Ocean today in the hope of finding her baby lost somewhere in China.

The mother is Louise I. Hsuen Kwang, Chinese dramatic soprano and the wife of a former faculty member of the University of Nanking, forced by the Japanese invasion to move 1,000 miles back into the interior of Chungking.

They came to the United States four years ago so Kwang could continue his studies. He received his Ph.D. at Cornell University in plant pathology a few weeks ago.

They left their son, then one year old, with Mrs. Kwang's mother. A year ago the baby and his grandmother dropped from sight. Cabled inquiries failed to reveal trace of them.

So today Mrs. Kwang broadcast to China over the new international station W6XBE, the only American station which can be heard in the Orient.

Between 6.15 and 6.30 a.m. she told the story of her lost son and crooned lullabies in the hope someone in China will be able to send her word of the boy.

She will sail Saturday from Vancouver, B.C., for the Orient on the liner Empress of Asia to continue the hunt in person.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. met in the lecture room of the church there on Monday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. M. C. Fuller, first vice-president, presided. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. McArthur and Mrs. Eldridge. Arrangements were completed for the supply work and members were reminded of the Presbyterian picnic to be held at the Gorge Park on Friday, June 30, when the Duncan and up-island missionary auxiliaries will be guests of Victoria ladies. Mrs. T. W. McLean was speaker at the meeting and gave interesting address on "The Village Life of India." At the close of the service, the hostesses being Mrs. G. A. Lister and Mrs. H. Warren.

Social and Personal

Mrs. Leonard Peace of Vancouver is the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Stuart Yates, Langford, for a few days.

This afternoon at her home on Terrace Avenue Mrs. Cleve G. White entertained at the tea hour in farewell to Mrs. Roy Angus, who will leave at the end of the month for Summerland.

Miss Caro Wylie, who is attending Haverford College, Toronto, has returned to spend the summer holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Wylie, Wilmet Place, Oak Bay.

Yesterday evening's miscellaneous shower was held at the Japanese Tea Gardens in honor of Miss Kathie Brown, whose marriage to Mr. P. Politano will take place in July. After the bride-to-be had received her gifts, refreshments were served from a prettily-decorated table, the color scheme being pink and green. The guests were: Mesdames W. P. Brown, J. Johnson, H. Walker, B. Garnot, A. Garnot, E. Oldnall, G. Alexander and J. Clarke, Misses Joan Lambrick, Winnie Burton, Gwen Roskelly, Fred Gilson, Ethel Newburn, Dorothy Martin, Jean Duncan, Joe Crowther, Zora Gill, Hilda Brown, Phyllis Crowe, Eileen Morris, Rowena Carlow, Alys Eccles, Bea Sawyer and Viola Woods.

Langford W.I. Benefit By Garden Party

An enjoyable garden party took place at the home of Mrs. James Stuart Yates, Langford, yesterday under the auspices of the Langford Women's Institute. Mrs. Yates and Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, president, welcomed the visitors.

The stalls, arranged on the lawn, were presided over by: Mrs. Dan Malcolm, fancywork; Mrs. H. F. Dack and Mrs. R. M. Ritchie, home cooking and candy. House-keeping was conducted by Mrs. H. A. Hinks, and contests by Mrs. R. J. Smith. Teacups were read by Mrs. J. Malloys. Mrs. P. N. Welch was the tea convener, her helpers being Mrs. C. Willard, Mrs. J. Findler, and the Misses Edith Baldock, Doris Buckley and Joan Robinson. Mrs. Elizabeth sold tea tickets and Miss Josephine Seabrook presided over the ice cream booth.

Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen, on behalf of the members, presented Mrs. S. Yates with a small souvenir for her kindness.

PICNIC POSTPONED

The Sunday school and congregational picnic of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, scheduled for June 24, has been postponed until July. The date will be announced later.

NEW METHOD

'Y' Girls to Join in 'Hare and Hounds'

Following the theatre parties, held in connection with the "Y" senior girls' summer program, a "hare and hounds" chase will take everyone outdoors again tomorrow evening. Sports clothes or other proper attire for this occasion will make it fun for all. Refreshments will follow at the "Y" clubrooms.

Monday evening at 8 the group will meet at Admirals and Esquimalt Roads to join in a jolly beach party and curio hunt, after which refreshments will be enjoyed. On Thursday evening, June 29, at 8 the evening program will take the form of a stay-at-home night, when games and music will be enjoyed around the fireplace and appropriate refreshments will close the evening.

Mrs. G. H. Scarrett has graciously invited those interested in the summer program to join in a swimming and tennis party at her home July 6. Following the afternoon's sports, supper will be served on the spacious veranda. All those wishing to attend are asked to communicate with Irene Davis or Amy Kirchin. This Saturday afternoon, leaving the "Y" at 2.30, the Bike and Hikers will hold a beach ramble. There will be a small charge for light refreshments.

Already applications are coming in for the Y.W.C.A. holiday camp at Galiano Island. More information regarding this camp can be secured on request. Miss Dorothy Beech, girls' work secretary, will attend the girls' H-Y president's training conference at the camp (July 3 to 10), when she will be one of the contributors to the various training "workshop" periods. This conference will also include the regular camp activities, hikes, swimming, boating, camp fires and their usual jolly programs, etc. H-Y presidents who might be interested in attending this conference are asked to get in touch with the secretary.

Dance Will Honor Visiting Golfers

To honor the out-of-town golfers who are here this week for the Pacific Northwest Golf Tournament, the Royal Colwood Golf Club will stage an informal dance at the clubhouse on Friday evening.

Dress will be informal, and Len Acres and his orchestra will provide a program of the latest hits from 10 until 2 a.m. Supper will be served at midnight. Tickets may be obtained at Straith's or Hocking and Forbes, or at the clubhouse.

The spacious clubhouse offers an ideal setting for dancing, and the lady members are planning to decorate the sun-room, main lounge and dining-room with flowers for this social climax to a week of outstanding golf.

SO CRISP THEY CRACKLE IN CREAM

Joan can hardly wait to eat her delicious Rice Krispies every morning. Not only do these crisp, honey-colored bubbles taste good—they're FUN to eat. They actually go POP! CRACKLE! SNAP as Joan pours on the cream. And they stay crisp, too! Thousands of Canadian families are switching to Rice Krispies for crispness. Serve them in your home, too. Order a package today! Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Letters to The Editor

APOLOGIZING FOR MR. HARTNELL

To the Editor:—The fact that has a lot to be said for the fact that bread, might seem to be a reason for Mr. Hans Kroeger's letter to your columns of June 19, as a semi-apology for Mr. Peter Hartnell's letter from Germany. However, most people will readily admit that half a loaf is concrete and factual, an interpretation which Germany enforces?

Most people would, I believe, find it very difficult to understand how supposedly forced statements (due to censorship, according to Mr. Kroeger's analysis) from Mr. Hartnell in Germany at this time and later re-pudation of the same statements on his return to this city, constitute a means of proving their factual, without which controvery would be sheer nonsense.

J. McDERMOTT.

674 Battery St.

MRS. MCGREGOR AND MR. ANDROS

To the Editor:—Quoting Mrs.

Alice McGregor: "There must be many ratepayers sufficiently interested in Victoria's welfare who are capable and willing to serve in making a good job of city management." Correct, madam.

I have often wondered why a certain vivacious, hard-working little woman out for election to help make a good job of city management, never polled a vote worth while. I am sure the voters would be a "bit shocked" did she fail to give them the opportunity of electing her. She won't. They won't. I now know the exact reason she fails, for her letters are based entirely upon misstatement and gossip.

There is in the issue of the Times on the 19th, page 4, captioned "The Morning After," written by Mr. E. B. Andros, in a jocularly satiric vein, a most complete recounting of the highlights of the Royal visit. It's an epic in its way. Don't miss it.

THIS WORLD

To the Editor:—The urge to human progress throughout the world seems to have become a helpless drift towards international self-destruction.

Japan has become like a runaway horse with the bit between the teeth, wild-eyed and careering, surprised that someone does not try to stop it before the crash comes.

The Japanese military power is like a mad bull in a china shop, righteously almost to delirium, at its own ability to slaughter and destroy everything around it.

The whole world tries to regulate the birthrate, so that the amount of food shall be just equal to that consumed, and no more, for the promise given to

Abraham has now reverted to oblivion, in an over-populated globe.

Mankind has come to realize that in spite of the great benefits of peace and good will, we must not discard the policeman or the

HOUSING LOANS AT NEW PEAK

Increased Activity In Building Under Government Financing

Loans under the National Housing Act established a new monthly record during May when they totaled $2,426,491, according to figures released by the finance department of the Dominion Government.

To the end of May British Columbia had the third highest total among the provinces, residents of this province borrowing $4,789,292 of the $34,458,764 borrowed to date.

Ontario tops the provinces with a total of $16,564,875.

Average loans per family unit for May were $3,274. There were 424 units financed. The previous high month was June of last year when a total of $2,096,713 financed 590 units.

An important feature of last month's operations was the extension of the loaning facilities to borrowers in 11 new communities.

Loans under the Home Improvement Act also reached a new monthly peak in May when they soared to $1,467,986. There were 3,907 loans made during the month.

AUSTRALIA PLANS U.S. LUMBER DEAL

CANBERRA, Australia (CP)—Canadian exports of timber to Australia, worth annually at least $4,000,000, may be affected to some extent by the contemplated Australian-United States trade agreement.

Negotiations now taking place are said to include a proposal that Australia grant a concession on importation of softwoods from the United States. This would be an inducement to the United States to grant concessions on Australian wool.

Canada's trade commissioner in Australia, L. M. Cosgrave, is in touch with his government on the question, but no formal protest has been filed with the Australian government.

Unofficially, however, representations are being made here by Australian representatives of Canadian timber interests, emphasizing the effect such a con-

ONTARIO CATTLE IN VICTORIA SHOW

Entries From Distant Points Expected at Willows Exhibition

Entries from as far east as Ontario are expected in the cattle section of the 78th annual exhibition of the B.C. Agricultural Association to be held from September 9 to 16, it was announced today by W. H. Mearns, secretary of the association.

Apart from entries expected from distant parts, large strings of cattle are anticipated from Vancouver Island and mainland points owing to the fact that this year the fair association has put up some $5,540 in cash prizes, while a special offer has been made by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada.

R. Rendle has been placed in charge of the cattle section and reports that all entries must be in the hands of the secretary not later than August 12, so that entry forms may be checked with the records branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada has offered to pay bona fide British Columbia breeders and exhibitors $5 per head for each individual entry of an animal exhibited two years old or over, and $3 per head for every individual animal exhibited under two years. No individual exhibitor will be paid on more than an average of one entry in each class or $40 in the senior section and $21 in the junior section. All animals are to be approved by a committee of the B.C. branch before receiving any bonus.

Seven breeds of cattle are represented in the 175 classes that make up this division of the fair. In the Shorthorn class $990 have been put up in cash prizes. In the breed cattle classes, represented by Aberdeen Angus and Herefords, the prize money totals $856. In the dairy section, represented by Guernseys, Ayrshires, Jerseys, and Holsteins, the prize money amounts to $4,644.

A special competition, having $40 in cash prizes, has been provided for the best decorated stables.

Youth Hurt When Auto Hits Pole

BURNABY, B.C. (CP)—Kenneth Fairweather, 19, suffered cuts about the face and bruises today when an automobile in which he was riding with three other persons crashed into a utility pole. Hospital attendants reported his condition good.

CHEAP HOUSING PLAN ENDORSED

Vancouver Labor Council Advocates Low-rental Home Building

VANCOUVER (CP)—A campaign for low-rental housing in Vancouver is being supported by the Trades and Labor Council.

The council last night endorsed a resolution asking the city council to set up a local housing authority and proceed immediately to carry out a large-scale construction program under the Dominion Housing Act.

William Page of the Building Trades Council, who sponsored the motion, said the city council was "hedging" on the scheme.

"Alderman H. L. Corey balks it at every turn, and Alderman John Bennett is also opposed," Mr. Page said. "Mayor Lyle Telford is sympathetic, and Alderman Helena Guttridge favors it. But the rest of the council is sitting on the fence."

With William Stewart of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union, Mr. Page said, "real estate sharks" and property owners' associations are exerting every effort to oppose low-rental housing.

"Construction industry representatives are asking the federal government institute works projects to give employment," Mr. Stewart said. "Here is a case where the city can have $1,300,000 for a housing project at a low interest rate.

"Anyone who walks about this city can see that we have slums. If this scheme were adopted it would relieve overcrowding, provide work for thousands of unemployed and take people off relief."

The trades council decided to protest the arrest of single unemployed for failure to stop soliciting funds when ordered to do so, and to request that names of those taken be stricken from police records.

C.C.F. Candidates

EDMONTON (CP)—Regardless of possible co-operation between Liberals, Conservatives and other groups opposed to the present Social Credit government of Alberta, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation will stand alone in the next provincial election, it was stated today by Elmer E. Roper, Provincial secretary of the C.C.F.

"We intend," he said, "to nominate enough candidates to make possible a clear majority for the C.C.F. in the next legislature and to form a C.C.F. government."

Motorcyclist Loses Life

CANMORE, Alta. (CP)—Mike Kotchanski, seriously injured when thrown from his motorcycle just east of the Banff Park gate Monday died in a hospital.

I thought the Indian said something to me—Drunk when he was arrested as he wrestled with cigar store Indian.

By PETE SALLAWAY

IT WAS THE SECOND finest round of golf I have ever shot. Those were the words of Kenny Black, smart Vancouver golfer after his sensational record-breaking 67 at the Colwood Club yesterday to win medalist honors in the current Pacific Northwest championship with the brilliant 36-hole score of 135. After setting a new course record on Monday with a 68 Black stepped out and sliced off another stroke.

"What was your best round?" we asked him.

"In the golf trail at Vancouver in 1936."

"How many mistakes did you make Monday and today?"

"Only two, one on the first round and one today."

When you consider Black played 36 holes against one of the smartest fields to ever seek the P.N.W. championship only two mistakes are phenomenal. But that was just the kind of golf the son of the veteran Dave Black, one of the greatest campaigners in Pacific Northwest golf in his day, was shooting.

After talking to Black we went over to have a few words with Alex Rose, veteran Seattle golfer and official starter of the tournament. "What did you think of Black's round?" we asked him.

"I have always considered Colwood the finest course in the Pacific Northwest, despite the fact that A. V. Macan favors Fircrest in Tacoma, and any time a golfer can get out there and shoot it in 68 and 67 is sensational. And you can certainly quote me on that."

Bill Steedman, another well-known Seattle golfer, was the next one we interviewed. "Black was really hitting the ball today," he said. "The way he was hitting the ball it looked easy. Proof of just how fine golf he was playing is the fact that Black was not sinking 10 to 15 foot putts, as is usually the case when a golfer goes out and shatters a course record. Ken's round was one of the finest I have ever seen."

There is one hole Jack Westland, Everett, defending champion, will always remember and that is the 13th at Colwood. After carding a smart 69 on Monday Westland blew all chance of heading the field at that hole when he wound up with an 11, believe it or not. That is a lot of strokes for a first-class golfer to use on a par four hole.

An orchid to those in Victoria who are making every effort towards getting baseball back on its feet again. The game was, at one time, Victoria's major summer sport but when it went into its relapse some years ago interest faded with it. Today, after three years of careful nursing by those in charge, the game is gradually getting back on its feet and a few more years of this kind of treatment should see the sport back on top of the sports front.

Public interest is at a low ebb at the present time, a good example being the attendances at the international series here last Saturday. The brand of ball was good but cash customers for the two games provided just sufficient funds to pay expenses. This season the senior teams are quite evenly matched and on the whole the competition has been good and certainly warrants better support from the public. Four senior teams are in this year's pennant chase and seven second division clubs are playing ball.

This week the Victoria Baseball Association inaugurated a league for youngsters that promises to help the game considerably in years to come. The lads who will play in this league are keen enthusiasts of the sport and there will undoubtedly materialize some good talent. In the second division there is lots of good talent that will be able to step up and take a place in senior company shortly.

The MacKay Shield final between Hudson's Bay and Navy football clubs, scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed until tomorrow night at 6:30 at Beacon Hill Park.

Manager of Chicago Ball Club Makes No Comment After Club Criticized

CHICAGO (AP)—The 1939 tailspin of Chicago Cubs, now battling to stick in the first division, is kicking up almost as much general excitement in their home ball park as did their stirring charge to the National League baseball pennant last September.

Ever since the Cubs started a skid which sent them into fifth place a wave of "what's wrong with the team" comment has swept the town. Then yesterday, just after a published "open letter" by owner P. K. Wrigley, anent his club's showing, Dizzy Dean came up with one of his well-known pop-offs.

Diz, speaking before the Chicago Association of Commerce, accused his mates of "not trying hard enough." Winner of three games and loser of none this season, the $185,000 pitcher said "the reason we're down where we are today is because the players aren't pushing" hard enough. Only two-thirds of us are doing our best. The rest of us ain't. Just let me pitch more often and everything will be okay. I'm getting tired of pitching only on Sundays."

"Let him talk," snapped manager Gabby Hartnett when he learned of Dean's diagnosis and remedy for the case. "I'm not going to comment. It's none of my business what he says. It's his story, not mine."

MAJOR LEAGUES

Maybe it was just a coincidence, but the day Buckey Walters of Cincinnati Reds became the first National League pitcher to win 10 games New York Yankees went on one of their most lucrative batting sprees.

That deserves more than passing mention since along about October 4, if you're watching the first game of the world series you probably will see Walters pitching against the Yankees.

Bucky, a string bean right-hander, won No. 10 with a smart 4 to 2 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers. That elbowing not only put him in a class by himself but moved the Reds up six and a half games in front of the second-place St. Louis Cardinals whose game with the Phillies yesterday was rained out.

The Dodgers, by their loss and the Chicago Cubs' 3 to 1 win over Boston Bees, plummeted down into the second division and the Cubs usurped the fourth-place spot. Claude Passeau was the big noise in the Cub win, hurling a five-hitter.

The New York-Pittsburgh and the Phillies-St. Louis games were postponed by wet grounds and rain.

In the American League that Yankee uprising that must have sounded unpleasant to Walters, though he was miles away, kept Chicago White Sox strictly in the Yankees' "cousin" class. The 13 to 3 win was the Yankees' seventh over the Sox this season. Boston Red Sox, with Joe Vosmik having a perfect day at the plate, blew down the St. Louis Browns 8 to 1 to ruin Harry Kimmerlin's major league pitching debut. Apparently that 14-inning victory over the Washington Senators the day before was too much for the Browns. It was definitely too much for the Senators, who repeated the loss, this time by 4 to 3 in 12 innings, to Cleveland Indians.

In the league's only night game, Tommy Bridges shut out the Philadelphia Athletics and the Detroit Tigers coasted to a 5 to 0 victory. Earl Averill's homer with a mate aboard was the strongest blow struck in the victors' favor.

THREE LOW SCORERS IN P.N.W. GOLF—Chap in the centre of the above threesome is Ken Black, smart Vancouver golfer, who yesterday fired a brilliant 67 to set a new course record for Colwood and win medal honors in the Pacific Northwest tournament with a 36-hole total of 135. Black shattered the course mark of 68 he established Monday. At the left is Art Christopher, Colwood captain, who finished in a tie with three others for fourth place. On the right is Don Thompson, Portland, third in the medal.

Davis Cup Prospects

Much Comment On Probables for Canadian Team; Continue Play in Nationals

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Who will make Canada's 1939 Davis Cup team? The question is only a little nearer an answer today than when the three weeks of trials began last week in the Ontario tennis championships at Toronto.

From one of the most hectic days in the history of the Canadian championships, there emerged yesterday the impression that the only real gainer in cup team consideration has been Bruce Hall, the blond University of Toronto theology student. The main losers have been the players beaten by Hall.

But just as solid in consideration are Bill Pigott, the big-bounding Hamilton boy rated No. 1 over Hall at the University of Toronto, and Don McDiarmid of Ottawa, seeded first among Canadians in both the Ontario and Canadian championships.

Close on their heels, beside Hall, are Lewis Duff, Ellis Tarshis and Georges Leclerc of Montreal, survivors in the Dominion tourney.

Bob Decker of Boston and Miami, Fla., did things to the chances of Roland Longtin of Montreal yesterday, whipping him 6-3, 6-1. But Longtin still must be rated a contender along with Gordon Robinson of Niagara Falls, Ont., kept from the Ontario and Dominion tourneys by a sprained wrist. Robinson may make a big enough impression in the Quebec championships next week.

Hall, who squeezed out a win over Duff at the Ontario meet, put a big kink in the chances of Roger Durivage of Montreal with a 6-6, 6-1, 6-2 beating yesterday.

Then there must be considered Bill Pedlar and Phil Pearson of Toronto, formerly of Vancouver, winner of the doubles titles at the Ontario championships and just about favorites in the Dominion tourney until two United States intercollegiate stars, Morey Lewis of Texarkana, Texas, and Frank Froehling of Chicago, arrived on the scene yesterday. Pedlar and Pearson might earn the third and fourth spots in the cup team on their doubles ability.

Eleanor Young of Vancouver, No. 2 in Canadian rankings last year, was the first to reach women's singles semifinals, eliminating Mrs. Sylvia Campbell of Detroit 6-2, 6-4. The tourney favorite, Elizabeth Blackman, stopped Jean Burritt of Toronto, runner-up for the Ontario title, 6-3, 6-2.

Champ Gains Final In C.P.R. Tennis

Defeating Mary Wells in straight sets 6-2, 6-4, Helen Baillies, defending champion, reached the final in the women's singles of the annual C.P.R. Tennis Club championships. In the only other open match Miss M. Rice-Jones defeated Miss G. Walsh 6-1, 6-0.

Flight results follow:
W. Brown-Cave defeated R. Kay, 6-2, 6-3.
J. Anderson defeated T. Harris, 6-1, 6-1.
R. Hurdie defeated H. Reed 6-2, 2-6, 6-4.
J. Johnston and D. Johnston defeated P. Holden and L. Ormond, 7-5, 6-6, 6-3.
M. Ferris defeated M. Acland, 4-6, 8-6, 10-6.

'Has-beens' Sneak Through With Win

Times Old-timers Score 13 to 11 Triumph Over 1939 Softballers

Although their joints were creaking like rusty old hinges on a barn door due to years of inactivity, "Times" antiques of the softball and baseball lots nevertheless romped through with a 13 to 11 victory over the 1939 edition Times softball team in an exhibition game last evening at Central Park.

It was a challenge match and attracted a large gallery of fans. The "Has-beens" accomplished their victory with the aid of 13 players, including three pitchers, and two "home town" umpires.

Two of the old-timers' pitching staff got the thumb to the show-ers from Manager Tommy Nute. Sr., who finally ordered Johnny Robertson to the pitching box in the last two innings to save the ball game. Johnny did well, holding the Times younger team down to allow the old-timers to gain a victory through the margin they set up in the earlier innings.

Pitcher Charlie Trevors of the youngsters was quite wild. He walked nine men.

In the playoff for the Todd Cup at the Victoria Golf Club C. P. Rutherford defeated Dr. A. Turnbull. The event is played on handicap.

Gehrig Has Paralysis

Great First Baseman of New York Yankees Out of Baseball for Good

NEW YORK (AP)—Ed Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, announced today Lou Gehrig is suffering from chronic infantile paralysis and will never play baseball again.

Barrow's statement came after Gehrig had turned over to him the formal report made by Mayo Clinic experts. Gehrig had spent several days in the clinic in order to have a thorough check made of his physical condition.

The one-time great first baseman had been worried about his condition all year. After making a bad showing in the field and at bat during the early part of the season, Gehrig voluntarily benched himself, May 2, thus ending his consecutive games streak at 2,130 games.

He sat on the bench for several weeks but could not regain his strength. Finally he decided to put himself in the hands of experts to determine just why he had lost his baseball form so suddenly. His trip to the clinic followed.

REMAIN WITH TEAM

Barrow said Gehrig apparently had been suffering from the ailment for two years and only his remarkable physique had enabled him to play.

The veteran will be continued

on the Yankee payroll for the rest of the season at least and will remain as nonplaying team captain. After his conference with Barrow, Gehrig left for the clubhouse to don his uniform.

Barrow said he understood from the physicians' reports the disease could be checked and in any event it probably would not get worse.

The Yankee leader obviously was broken up as he made the announcement. Gehrig long has been one of his favorite players.

Stevedores, Tiresmen Win

Longshoremen Retain Lead and Tire Shop in Second Place in A Softball

Manager Frank Shandley's Douglas Tire Shop men, who are really hitting a fine stride now, clambered up to take over sole occupation of the second berth in senior softball, and Jim Leckie's Victoria Longshoremen retained their seat at the top of the heap last night when they checked in with victories.

The tiresmen hammered out an 8 to 1 triumph over Cameron Lumber, last year's champions, at Athletic Park, and the stevedoring outfit took the measure of the lowly cellar squad, Ken-tractors, 7 to 5, at Victoria West Park.

Longshoremen gained their victory in the eighth when Vic Dale, first-sacker, crashed out a four-bag hit with Morry Hornsby on the sacks. The waterfront workers are two full games in front of the second-place Tire Shop nine.

Kentracors kept on the top side of the score for five innings, but Longshoremen took advantage of a costly bobble in the sixth and sent two runners over to throw the score into a 5 to 5 clinch. Seventh inning was scoreless, but Dale's timely circuit smash in the eighth ended the fixture for Leckie's crew.

Another homer was hit during the game. That by Hemsworth, Kentracors infield. Bags were empty.

SCORE BY INNINGS:

TIREMEN VICTORS

Playing smart ball behind the seven-hit pitching of smiling Red Palmer, Tire Shop nine scored an impressive 8 to 1 win over Camerons. Tiresmen set up a 2 to 0 lead in the second and kept widening their margin as the game progressed.

Tiresmen hit—Fred—Billsborough's offerings hard all night, and from 10 safe hits collected just two less runs. They did most of the damage in the second, sixth and eighth innings, bagging two runs in each of those frames.

Gordie Paterson hit the only homer of the game. The Tire-

Former Still Confident of Taking Champ

Tapers Off Training for Heavyweight Fight at New York Week Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Galento, the fat heavyweight championship challenger, either is honestly confident of beating Joe Louis a week from tonight, or he will go into the ring behind as amazing a "front" as any condemned man ever summoned.

Surrounded by predictions that Louis will half kill him inside two rounds, Tony enters his final bit of training still roaring drunk on self-esteem and mouthing his disdain of the champion.

Three hours at Madame Bey's training camp yesterday offered ample opportunity to study Galento at close range. He shows no sign of "nerves." He's still clowning before his adoring New Jersey public, but behind the scenes he's getting mean and irritable as a bear with a sore head. He looks ready for a fight.

JACOBS BLOWS OFF

His manager, Joe Jacobs, yelled himself hoarse at the boxing writers who attended the workout. He accused them of "seeing Louis through rose-colored glasses."

"Go ahead, you guys, and make saps out of yourselves again like you did on the first Schmeling-Louis fight," Joe fumed. "But don't forget I warned you. Tony's going to stretch that guy out inside six rounds."

As though to back up his manager's words, Tony then proceeded to punch the stuffing out of three sparring partners. They weren't very good sparring partners, but Tony did punch them about.

Tony featured the wallop that is his one, desperate hope of smacking the champion down—a 230-pound left hook to the body, followed as quickly as Tony's reflexes permit by the same thunderous left to the head.

It's a lick that wouldn't do a mule any good. But it's difficult to picture Joe getting hit with it.

Everybody is wondering if Galento will alter his offensive style (if that's the right word) and try to keep his vulnerable spots

Between Dinners Plane Crosses Atlantic

Man Can Shave in Comfort But Coffee Takes Time to Make

"I caught a plane for Europe." Soon that won't be an uncommon thing to hear. But today, at the lush dawn of a new era in trans-Atlantic travel, there's a world of romance in being a passenger on an intercontinental flight. Here is the second of three dispatches in which a newspaper man, aboard the silver-winged Atlantic Clipper on a preview passenger trip from New York to France, describes his experiences.

By JEAN GRIFFIS
Special Correspondent

Aboard the Pan-American Airways American Clipper, Lisbon—it was at Lisbon that the old dream of an overnight skyway trip to Europe ceased to be a dream and became fact. In less than 24 hours, between dinners, we spanned the breach which had alienated two worlds for centuries.

The trip from the Azores was epochal in many ways. We took off from the deep channel running between cloud-topped mountains and soon rode over shiplanes hallowed through the ages by the surface navigation of adventurers, explorers, commerce and warfare.

The day's diverting ride started very early for me. The sun was shining brightly all around us and as I sat down to breakfast near a window, I watched the panorama of clouds, sea and sky.

Being an American ship, the Clipper served an American breakfast—but we had to eat it in sections. At the height we were flying, coffee takes a long time to make, so we started on orange juice, and bread and jam, went to cereal, moved up on the sausages and bacon. After a while the coffee came along and we drank it eagerly. We were pretty hungry.

ALL THE COMFORTS OF HOME

Before coming to breakfast I changed my clothes and some of us shaved in the men's lounge, and here the Clipper gave us three pleasant surprises.

First, the water was really hot. Second, one could shave without encountering the usual Pullman train lurch that can leave you with half a cheek scraped off.

Third, as you shaved, you could look out and see sunshaded clouds a mile below.

While a good bit of the world goes by outside his window, Jean Graffis relaxes in one of the Atlantic Clipper's comfortable chairs... "tidies up" before a meal... feels perfectly at home thousands of feet above the Atlantic.

After breakfast I sat by a window, occasionally interrupting my reveries to listen to the crew's factual reports on position and speed. I learned to know some of the ship's signals by watching the lights over the door warning of landings and takeoffs. Whenever we hit bumpy air I habitually buckled on my safety belt. Presently I strolled through the central corridor listening to the impressions of others on board. Veterans of air-travel agreed with my amateur's exultation over the trip. I boasted of having seen an unusual Venus re-fraction over the eastern horizon before dawn. It gave a beacon-like illusion as it blinked red and white alternately. It seemed to be eternity's stop-and-go signal.

"LAND HO!"—IT'S PORTUGAL

While resting, members of the crew told incredible tales of air travel through the greater part of the world. Some would be seeing friends in China or South America on their next trip. Nevertheless they failed to undermine my excitement. This week-end will do me a lifetime.

After lunch, my lack of sleep, the overstimulation of the trip and the ceaseless drone of the motors forced me to slip into my berth; where I lay between silk sheets. On the clipper you lie in a berth with your feet "facing" the aisle. The motors were near but their smooth rhythm put me to sleep for three hours.

When I awakened I was lost, unable to identify the time or place until I heard the cry of "Land ho!" I dressed quickly.

Austen-Leigh and Miss Y. Lowden (+15), 5-7, 6-1, 6-4.

WOMEN'S HANDICAP SINGLES

Miss A. Peden (-15.3) defeated Miss C. Musgrave (+3.6), 6-3, 4-6, 10-8.

Sailors Battle Eagles Tonight

Meet in Rithet Cup Baseball Game; Three Other Tilts Carded

Senior baseball nines will resume their Rithet Cup city championship series this evening and will also see action Friday and Saturday.

At Athletic Park tonight Eagles will defend their leadership in the series when they oppose Navy at 6:15. Sailors were beaten in their first start in this series, while Eagles handed Pitzer & Nex a defeat.

Stan Davies will do the twirling for the feathered tribe, and Sailors' Manager Charlie McDonald will probably use Murray on the hillcock.

Athletics, who dropped a tough 1 to 0 verdict to Pitzer & Nex Monday night after their twirler had turned in a "no-hit" performance, will engage Eagles Friday night at Athletic Park. A's are tied in the second berth with gasmen.

A twin-bill league series is scheduled for the Athletic Park Saturday. Navy and Athletics will meet in the afternoon game at 2:30 and Pitzer & Nex and Eagles will clash in the evening game at 6.

LAST NIGHT'S GAMES

Navy grabbed the top berth in the second division Humphries Cup race last night by handing Brown Bombers a 16 to 4 setback at Admirals Road.

Pitzer & Nex and Oak Bay finished their seven-inning game in a 5 to 5 draw at Oak Bay Park, the basemen scoring the tying run in the sixth.

Another one-sided game resulted in the battle between Eagles and Cedar Hill Athletics. Eagles took a 10 to 1 decision.

OUTBOARD MEETING

A special meeting of the Vancouver Island Outboard Association will be held at the clubrooms, 1342 Pandora Avenue, tonight at 8, when arrangements will be made for the regatta and dance at Shawnigan Lake on July 1.

Touching the rough waters we bounced twice, then settled safely and idled up the Tagus past warships, a fortress, submarines, many yachts, rowboats and factories. White and tan buildings stood on the shelving banks and narrow streets jammed with automobiles ran beside them.

This was colorful old Lisbon, with its homing fishwives who carried supplies on their heads like packhorses, its scores of swarthy urchins who swarmed everywhere and flirted with death in front of cars, its modern downtown hotel where we spent the night.

As we entered the customs after landing, I turned and looked back at the gigantic air chariot silent at her mooring. Her routine performance had shamed the wildest fancies.

I couldn't come down to earth. I had just been given a place at Columbus' feet.

NEW ROAD DRYING TIRE GIVES QUICKEST NON-SKID STOPS YOU'VE EVER HAD!

BLOW-OUT PROTECTION, TOO

JUST imagine how much safer you'll be with this new tire that sweeps wet roads dry—so dry that you can actually light a match on its tread! Come in and see how the amazing windshield-wiper action of this Life-Saver Tread performs this feat even on wettest pavements—stops your car quicker, safer than you've ever stopped before!

Remember, the big "roll call" of safety features in this new Goodrich Silvertown also includes the famous Golden Ply. By resisting internal tire heat, the Golden Ply provides you with scientific protection against today's high-speed blow-outs.

NO EXTRA COST. You might expect to pay more for this double protection, but remember, both the skid protection of the Life-Saver Tread and the famous Golden Ply blow-out protection are yours in Silvertowns at no extra cost. But remember, to protect yourself against a possible skid or blow-out tomorrow, you must act today. For safety's sake come in and have your car equipped with streamlined Goodrich Safety Silvertowns.

NEW GOODRICH TIRE SWEEPS WET ROADS SO DRY YOU CAN LIGHT A MATCH ON ITS TREAD

ACTS LIKE BATTERY OF WINDSHIELD WIPERS

The Life-Saver Tread acts like windshield wipers on a wet surface. As the row upon row of never-ending spiral bars roll over a dangerous film of water, they sweep that water right and left—force it out through the deep drainage grooves—make a dry track for the rubber to grip.

1. NEW BLOW-OUT PROTECTION...

In the blow-out "danger zone" (A), Seal-o-matic's "Self-Healing" Lining instantly works in to fill rips, or tears... dramatic high-speed tests prove that Seal-o-matic changes dangerous blow-outs to safe, slow leaks. Stop at 25% blow-out of the "danger zone". Seal-o-matic gives new protection—with 60% greater strength in its "Full-Rubber" walls—strength that is not stretched out or diminished in use because this tube is built up (not blown up) to fill your tire.

2. TIRES... PUNCTURES due to nails, glass, etc., are instantly filled and sealed by the new, exclusive Goodrich "Self-Healing" Lining—mended completely and permanently. See how this lining reaches beyond the shoulders—protecting the entire area where practically all punctures occur.

One-sided Victories

Favorites Win Second Round Matches
In Women's P.N.W. Golf Tourney

One-sided victories were the order in the second round of the Pacific Northwest women's golf championship at the Uplands club today.

Miss Marian McDougall, Portland, defending champion and medalist, defeated Mrs. Guy Riegel, Spokane, a former titleholder, 4 and 3.

Mrs. E. Jackson and Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, two strong Uplands contenders, both marked up 8 and 7 triumphs, the former over Mrs. R. R. Bailey, Portland, and the latter over Miss Olive Lewis, Portland.

Mrs. Ross Hocking, Victoria, runner-up in the recent British Columbia women's championship, was eliminated by Miss Muriel Veatch, Seattle, 3 and 1.

Complete results follow:
Miss Marian McDougall, Portland, defeated Mrs. Guy Riegel, Spokane, 4 and 3.

Mrs. E. Jackson, Victoria, defeated Mrs. R. R. Bailey, Portland, 8 and 7.

Mrs. R. K. Bealroto, Winnipeg, defeated Mrs. J. McIlraith, Victoria, 5 and 3.

Miss Muriel Veatch, Seattle, defeated Mrs. R. V. Hocking, Victoria, 3 and 1.

Miss M. Mackenzie-Grieve, Victoria, defeated Miss Olive Lewis, Portland, 8 and 7.

Mrs. C. W. Jones, Seattle, defeated Mrs. A. C. Stickley, Victoria, 2 and 1.

Miss Nancy Hurst, Portland, defeated Miss Barbara Burns, Seattle, 5 and 4.

A request for financial assistance in staging the Pacific Northwest convention of the Loyal Order of Moose here on July 13, 14 and 15, was made to the city in a letter from the local lodge received at the City Hall today. The Victoria group stated between 1,000 and 1,500 delegates would attend the gathering and suggested the city contribute $500 towards the expenses of the event.

BERRY SHIPMENTS EAST ARE FEWER

Local Growers, However, Generally Satisfied With Season's Crop

Strawberry growers of the Saanich Peninsula are generally satisfied with the season's crop, although shipments to the prairies were not quite as heavy as last year because of the dull weather of recent weeks.

However, the loss was hardly noticeable and not one-tenth as great as that experienced in the Fraser Valley, where even drier and chillier weather than in the Greater Victoria area caused shipments to the prairies to drop considerably.

Saanich growers this season have shipped 11 cars of 600 crates each to the prairie provinces. This is a little less than in 1938.

The crop for jam is now being picked, the finest berries for the retail trade being pretty well over.

"There will be berries in the retail trade for the next two weeks," one grower said this morning. "However, we aren't fussy about the local retail trade. Prices have been too low. Wholesale houses have brought lower-priced berries in this year from the mainland, where they are grown by Japanese."

HANEY, B.C. (CP)—Y. Yamaga, manager of the Maple Ridge Co-operative Exchange, reported yesterday Fraser Valley strawberry growers have lost about $150,000 in prairie sales because of adverse June weather.

Yamaga said only 50 cars of berries have been shipped east from the province this year as compared with 115 at this date in 1938.

DEMOCRACY GROUP ELECTS COMMITTEE

Dr. D. M. Baillie and Major A. H. Jukes to Attend C.C.F. Convention

The first organization meeting of the New Democracy Movement, inaugurated in Victoria last month by Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister to the United States during the premiership of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, was held in the Chamber of Commerce annex last evening and was attended by persons of all political faiths.

Dr. D. M. Baillie was in the chair and accepted nominations for the general committee, which was struck as follows: H. A. Bowden, Mrs. E. Boydell, Mrs. Margaret Carr, Leonard Clark, Mrs. Edith J. Dale, Dr. D. M. Baillie, William R. Ferry, F. C. Holden, Mrs. D. M. Baillie, Sir Robert Holland, Major A. H. Jukes, Hans Kroeger, Miss Eva Lytton, Mrs. Mathieson, Dr. W. E. M. Mitchell, Lieut. Col. C. B. Messiter, James Moyes, Miss E. F. Roberts, Mrs. Savage, Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell, Gerald Stevens, Frank L. Tupman, Rev. Bryce H. Wallace and Rudolph Williams.

The meeting appointed Dr. Baillie and Major Jukes delegates to the C.C.F. provincial convention in Vancouver on Friday and Saturday.

While the date for the first meeting of the city's 1939 special wage committee had not been set today, funds for readjustment of smaller salaries could be secured from the special contingent fund left in the city's 1939 budget, it was learned at the City Hall today. When the question was discussed by the council Monday, Alderman S. H. Okell sought special consideration for the young men in the lower-paid group, suggesting increases be given those receiving $65 a month.

The City Council will resume its study of major problems, including the franchise issue, in the near future, Mayor Andrew McGavin stated today.

"We'll get to work on it just as soon as possible," the mayor declared, adding a regular meeting of the council would be called next week.

He also expected to hold a session of the council in Royal Visit committee next week to clean up certain matters and protests on which final action has not yet been taken.

TOWN TOPICS

Prof. J. N. Start of the Simpson Bible Institute, Seattle, will speak on "Mussolini In Prophecy" at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle tonight at 8.

Herbert Doherty, formerly of Victoria, flew over from Vancouver this morning accompanied by E. Richardi, Montreal-clothing manufacturer, and associate, S. Russell. They will fly back this afternoon.

Theft of his lacrosse outfit, including pads, a sweater and gloves, valued at $20, was reported by William Allen to city police last night. The equipment was stolen from a car.

Acceptance of terms set forth by the City Council for use of property behind the Scott building was declared by the city school board in a letter received today. The property is required for extra playing field space for the school in that district.

Emmanuel Baptist church, congregational and Sunday school picnic will be held on Saturday afternoon at Ocean View Beach, Esquimalt Lagoon. It will be a basket picnic but supper will be provided for the Sunday School scholars. Buses will leave the church promptly at 2.

The Knights and Dames of the Thistle will hold an old-fashioned Scotch soiree in the K. of P. Hall Friday night at 8, with the following artists assisting: Mrs. Florence Gunn, Mrs. Slater, Miss Lauretta McCall, J. J. Mathieson, Billy Inglis and Dick Sneddon. The pupils of Mrs. W. Dow's dancing academy will give an exhibition of Highland, Irish, tap and acrobatic dancing.

The Pacific Great Eastern Railway, starting tomorrow, will reduce rates on building materials, forest products, grain and grain products, hay, vegetables and coal. In addition there will be reduction in standard mileage rates between local stations. The new tariff was approved by the Minister of Railway May 25 and by Order-in-Council four days later.

Until the City Council decides what action it will take on Pandora Avenue improvements this year, road work in the city will be restricted to minor repairs, it was learned at the city engineer's office today. The department's road gang completed replacing of wooden blocks with paving on View Street last Monday and would be through with the Gordon Street project this evening, it was stated.

On Tuesday night, in the Y.M.C.A. hall, before a crowded audience, Tom Jolly addressed the Victoria and District British-Israel Association on "The Offering of a People." In a most interesting address, illustrated by Pyramid diagrams, Mr. Jolly showed by means of Biblical prophecy and Pyramid chronology how modern Israel is gradually awakening to her identity and destiny, and will presently present herself as a living sacrifice ready for work in God's kingdom on earth.

Mrs. I. R. Champion, 1255 Action Street, was reported resting comfortably at St. Joseph's Hospital today following an accident at Cook Street and Burdett Avenue last night in which she was injured. A city police report said Mrs. Champion was driving on Cook Street and her car was in collision with a machine driven by James H. Waind, 1218 McKenzie Avenue. The Waind car was turned on its side by the impact but the driver was reported unhurt. Mrs. Champion was taken to hospital in the C. and C. ambulance and Dr. Russell Robertson attended her.

Move to Correlak B.C. Drama Interests

Progress in the move for the correlation of drama interests in British Columbia was reported today by Major Bullock-Webster following a preliminary conference held at an informal luncheon at the Hotel Vancouver Tuesday. Those present were: Sir Robert Holland, chairman of the Canadian Drama Award; Col. J. J. Burton, mainland representative of the Dominion Drama Festival; Dr. H. B. King of the Education Department; W. L. MacTavish, editor of the Daily Province and member of the governing committee of the Canadian Drama Award; and Major Bullock-Webster, chairman of the B.C. region of the D.D.F., and president of the Provincial Drama Association.

Fewer Forest Fires In B.C. This Month

Forest fires in British Columbia this June have been considerably fewer than this time last year, because of the unusually wet and dull weather, according to a Department of Lands report issued this morning.

For the week ending last Saturday 390 fires were reported in all parts of the province. In the same week last year 575 fires were burning.

The report, filed by C. D. Orchard, acting chief forester, with Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, was divided as follows: Vancouver district, including Vancouver Island, 107 fires; Prince Rupert, 13; Fort George, 22; Kamloops, 123; and Nelson, 125.

The Jewish population of Poland has been estimated at 2,829,456, the second largest number of Jews of any country in the world.

Certain Pupils Will Be Aided

Financial Assistance For Students of Merit, But Lacking Finances

Students of particular merit, but without means to continue their education, will be helped through B.C.'s University course next term under a new schedule added to the Dominion-provincial youth training program.

Announcement of this was made this morning by F. T. Fairley, director of technical education with the Provincial Department of Education. His communication was addressed to principals of all high schools in B.C.

Thus, financially aided, students fulfilling the necessary regulations will be able to attend the University in Vancouver or Victoria College here.

The amount available for this purpose is approximately $5,000 and with this sum it is hoped to assist about 25 students next term. Students in any year at the University may be assisted, as well as those entering for the first time.

Selection of those to be assisted is to be made on the basis of merit, plus need. High school principals are asked to give advice to those who apply. Application forms are to be returned to the department by September 1 next.

The maximum financial assistance to any one student will not exceed $25 a month, for a period of eight months, and further, the communication states, wherever more than four students are receiving assistance in any one university, the assistance given shall not exceed, on an average, $150 per student for the academic year.

The selection of students will be made by a committee from the University of British Columbia. Similar aid is being given to this class of student in each of the nine provinces of Canada.

CITY GETS SHARE OF LICENSE FEES

Victoria Nets $14,278 Of Gross $42,793.96 Allotted By Province

The city today received its share of the motor-license fees distributed annually by the provincial government to municipalities.

The total allocation for Victoria amounted to $42,793.96. From that were subtracted outstanding accounts of the city to the government amounting to $28,515.96, leaving a net return of $14,278.

Deductions were made from the original figure to cover payments owed by Victoria for keep of prisoners, for inmates in provincial infirmary, the Tranquille Sanitarium, T.B. units in the province and for the superannuation fund.

For some years municipalities of the province have been drawing the maximum return allowed by the province, D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller, stated in explanation of the sum paid. Consequently the figure does not fluctuate to any great extent.

Payment covered that due to the city for the period encompassed by the provincial government's fiscal year ending March 31, 1939.

B.C. Drama Move For Unity Endorsed

VANCOUVER—At a well-attended meeting here Tuesday evening of those interested in drama development in British Columbia, recommendations of the Victoria committee for correlating the various groups and their annual festivals into one annual event were agreed to in principle.

Those at the head table included Sir Robert Holland and Major Bullock-Webster of Victoria, Judge Lennox and Colonel Burton of Vancouver.

U.S. Inquiry Board-Told Indicators Showed Squalus Ready to Dive

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—Lieut. William T. Doyle of Baltimore, executive officer of the submarine Squalus, which carried 26 men to death in the sea, today supported the testimony of his commander that the virtually unprotected ventilating systems of United States submarines are their greatest weakness.

Almost simultaneously he gave new indication failure of the air induction system was the cause of the accident.

VICTORIAN TO ROOF HOUSES IN BRITAIN

George Robertson Wins Free Trip and Several Months' Work Shingling

George Robertson of 1342 Bay Street is thanking the fates that he followed in the footsteps of his father, Brock Robertson, and learned to shingle houses.

For his skill at laying the shakes has won him a free round trip to Great Britain and the promise of several months steady work over there.

A few days ago the London firm of W. H. Colt Limited advertised through its agent, W. Witherly, for 20 shinglers to go over to the British Isles and introduce the art there.

Mr. Robertson applied in writing, then went over to Vancouver on the midnight boat last night for an interview with Mr. Witherly.

Early this afternoon the Canadian Press announced from Vancouver that the Victoria man was among the first to be definitely chosen for the trip. He will probably be among the first group of 10 or 12 men who will sail from New York about July 8.

There were so many applicants for the jobs that police had to clear the sidewalks of a Vancouver street this morning while Mr. Witherly was interviewing the men.

WIFE THRILLED

Mr. Robertson was not due back in Victoria until late this afternoon, and until the Times phoned her his wife was unaware he had won the job in England.

"It will be a lovely trip for him," she said, adding that she wished she could accompany him, but that they would not be able to afford it.

Her husband has been shingling houses on and off for the last 12 years, she said. He learned his craft from his father, who has been 40 years in the business.

Mr. Robertson's grandfather was one of the pioneers of the Victoria district. He gave his name to the city's Robertson Street.

IN TOWN TODAY

Eighteen bright-eyed, highly-excited boys and girls from Port Townsend, stepped ashore this morning from Ss. Iroquois for a day's sightseeing in Victoria. For most of them it was their first visit to a city about which they have heard of a great deal.

Members of the Young People's Sodality of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Mary, Star of the Sea, they had planned this outing for many months. With them came their genial, smiling pastor, Father Dillon, who piloted them about the city and supervised their lunch. The young people brought cameras, took numerous pictures, bought postcards and other local souvenirs.

At 5.30 this afternoon they went aboard Ss. Olympic for Port Angeles, from where they will motor to their homes along the Olympic Peninsula.

To see the rose gardens, for which Victoria is famous, Dr. T. Allen Kirk, M.D., of Roanoke, Virginia, president of the Rose Society of America, arrived in the city this morning, accompanied by R. Marion Hutton of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, secretary of the society, and Roland Gamwell of Bellingham, prominent rose grower who always comes to Victoria for the annual Spring Garden Festival. The party registered at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Gamwell, who met Dr. Kirk and Mr. Hutton in Seattle, following their attendance at the annual meeting of the Rose Society in Salt Lake City, persuaded them to come to Victoria to see the

Tientsin British Hold On

Dress for Dinner and Exercise Dogs
Despite Japanese Blockade

By J. D. WHITE
TIENSIN (British Concession) (AP)—The sun isn't setting just yet on this bit of England in the Far East.

Despite limitations imposed by the Japanese blockade, Tientsin Britons still are eating regularly, although sometimes fresh vegetables are lacking, and they still dress doggedly for dinner. Occasionally a stiff shirt is worn for two evenings because of laundry difficulties—a majority of the washermen are outside the concession and the laundries within are overburdened.

Some of the old-timers mumble past pipes through clenched teeth about this, that or the other nuisance and inconvenience, but the situation won't be critical until the pipes are removed to facilitate the grumbling—so say veterans of past troubles in China.

The principal visible effect of the blockade is disruption of movements outside the concession.

CLUB MEETINGS END

Probably the most startling change occurred within the ranks of so-called "coffee takers" or "early birds" who for years have met daily at 6 a.m. at the British Country Club, outside the concession. The early birds are missing their regular meeting there for a morning walk exercising their dogs, swimming in the club pool and breakfasting on toast and coffee.

They have, however, worked out a substitute routine. One group led by E. S. Peters and W. H. Howell, exporters and former chairmen of the concession council to which they have belonged for 40 years, meets at the grammar-school athletic grounds to walk the dogs. Toast and coffee were arranged for elsewhere. Not for 20 years before the blockade had Peters and Howell missed a session at the Country Club unless they were ill.

A second group is led by A. E. Tipper, present chairman of the council, who is throwing his influence toward a swimming club inside the concession for pre-breakfast exercise.

Many others who walked through the country club each morning in shorts and jerseys now are striding along the race-course road with their dogs. At the barrier where they are almost within sight of the country club they halt, bite their pipes a bit sharper and with a "humpf" turn homeward.

WOMEN AT CLUB

Another alteration in the scheme of life is a recent decision to admit women to the premises of the Tientsin Club inside the concession, achieved after a sharp battle in which "bachelor di-hards" fought a losing fight.

The "horsey" element is lamenting its inability to reach stables on the outside, personally to supervise care of prize mounts.

The determination of the British colony not to allow the blockade to shake it from customary calm is indicated by a sign at the front door of the Tientsin Club. "Polo today. 5 o'clock." Cricket is played regularly also.

One match between the club and the Durham Light Infantry bugle calls summoning officers from the playing field when it was reported a British Tommy was held by the Japanese. He soon was released, whereupon the Durhams returned and won the match.

First Innings Cricket Wins

Four Clubs Register
Points in English
County Competition

LONDON (CP)—First-innings points were chalked up by four English county cricket teams yesterday as their three-day matches ended. Three games were abandoned, due to rain.

Although no play was possible yesterday, due to weather conditions, Yorkshire defeated Nottinghamshire on the first innings. Worcester won on the first innings over Warwickshire, and Middlesex added first-innings points over Northamptonshire.

The Leicestershire-West Indies contest was abandoned after lunch, while no play was possible between Marylebone Cricket Club and Cambridge, and Derbyshire and Lancashire.

In a first-class match, Somerset defeated Oxford University by 219 runs.

The scores:
Derbyshire 356, Lancashire 267 runs for seven wickets; at Buxton.
Yorkshire 244 and 108, Nottingham 120 and 3 runs for four wickets; at Nottingham.

Worcestershire 271 and 153 (Aymer five for 69), Warwickshire 246 and 70 for one; at Birmingham.

Northamptonshire 222 and 343 for nine, declared. (Simms 120 not out, Davis 80), Middlesex 280 and 288 for three (Robertson 144, Compton 111 not out); at Northampton.

Essex 156 and 248, Surrey 110 and 146 for five (P. Smith four for 40); at the Oval.
West Indies 182 and 314 for eight, Leicestershire 216; at Leicester.

Marylebone Cricket Club 206 and 193, Cambridge University 197 and 133 for six; at Lord's.
Somerset 226 and 257, Oxford University 120 and 144 (Andrews five for 43); at Bath.

Strawberry Vale

A physical education display was presented by the pupils Friday afternoon at Strawberry Vale Public School. The program included formation marching, rhythmic drills, Danish drills, folk dancing, tumbling and pyramid formation, while exhibitions were also given of typical relay races and school games. The physical display was under supervision of the staff, including Principal W. M. Allan and Misses E. Simpson and D. Evans, assisted by Miss Elsie Fryatt, pianist, and H. Huntington.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Burrow of Gerda Road were privileged last week to welcome a group of friends motoring from New York and including Mrs. Victor Waghorn, sister of Mr. Burrow; also Mr. and Mrs. A. Conley, Mrs. A. Downham and Miss E. Waghorn. An enjoyable afternoon was spent by the parishioners of St. Columba Anglican Church on

C.P.R. Lumber Buyer to Retire

Alexander Latta
Associated With Company 36 Years

A 36-year association with the British Columbia lumber trade comes to an end at the close of this month for Alexander Latta, lumber buyer of the Canadian Pacific Railway's purchasing department in Vancouver, who goes into retirement on superannuation June 30.

Mr. Latta's duties as lumber buyer for the C.P.R. will be incorporated with other functions of Jeff Arnott, assistant purchasing agent, it is announced by S. V. T. Jeffery, purchasing agent.

As one who saw the growth of the B.C. lumbering industry from the days of bull teams to high-level operations, Mr. Latta also saw the rapid development of the use of lumber in railway operations.

Fifty-six different pieces of lumber are used in the construction of railway refrigerator cars, for example, and in 1928 Mr. Latta handled the purchase of 60,000,000 feet of B.C. lumber for his railway's requirements, exclusive of tie and pole orders.

He has handled shipments from Great Central Lake and Alberni to Saint John and other parts of the Maritimes, and huge orders have rolled east for the car builders at Canadian Pacific's Angus Shops in Montreal.

To Mr. Latta and his associates in the purchasing department must go much of the credit for the fact that British Columbia fir and other lumber looms so largely in Canadian Pacific purchases. When he took over the position of lumber inspector in 1915, most of the company's purchases for construction of box-cars and other equipment were made in the southern pine country, but Mr. Latta was able to convince his principals of the value of British Columbia fir as box-car linings and for sill, frames and other uses in car building, and the business swung to this province.

Wednesday, when they were entertained by Rev. Montague Bruce at his home on Mt. Newton Cross Road. A garden party will be held June 28 at the home of Miss H. L. Milne, Portage Inlet, proceeds to be devoted to the work of the women's auxiliary.

U.S. NEUTRALITY BILL DELAYED

Opponents Say Congress May Quit for Summer Without Passing It

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opponents of the United States administration's neutrality bill expressed doubt today it would reach the Senate floor before adjournment, despite President Roosevelt's request that Congress act on it.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, predicted after the House of Representatives votes on the measure next week, congressional leaders might decide to postpone Senate consideration until next session.

Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, said he did not believe efforts to revise the present law would be carried to the length of keeping Congress in session until late August, in the face of probable extensive debate.

The prospect of a long session figured largely in Capitol Hill speculation after Mr. Roosevelt had told reporters yesterday he did not wish Congress to adjourn before voting on neutrality legislation.

The President said he was delaying his west coast trip until after adjournment. He had indicated previously he would leave about July 2, but he said Congress was making such rapid progress he would wait.

Salt Spring

GANGES—Organized by St. Mary's Guild, Fulford Harbor, a successful sale of work, with additional attractions, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Shaw.

Fancy and plain needlework stall was presided over by Mrs. Charlesworth, candy by Mrs. W. Y. Stewart, home cooking by Mrs. Harold Price and Mrs. Lacy, and ice cream, Mrs. Landry.

The dart competition, in charge of E. Tassell, was won by Harold Price. The first prize for the twin photograph contest, arranged by Miss Mary Lacy, went to N. W. Wilson. A fruit cake was won by Mrs. J. C. Pearce, who guessed the correct weight, 6½ lbs. A gold brooch was won by Mrs. G. J. Mout and a cushion by Mrs. A. Davis. Mrs. P. Price was in charge of the art gallery, where painted scenes of Salt Spring and California and sketches of flowers were exhibited. Contributors to the gallery were Mrs. P. Price, Mrs. J. M. Bryant, Mrs. Charlesworth, Mrs. Lacy, Mrs. J. J. Shaw, Misses K. and J. Lacy and Jack McDonald.

About 70 persons were present and the amount cleared, $75, will go towards the building fund for the new church to be erected at Ganges.

Mr. Chamberlain: Yes, it does. We hope they will formulate any grievances.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—In a listless session, wheat futures prices continued downward on the Winnipeg exchange today.

At the close wheat was ¼ to 1/8 lower. Outside traders showed little interest in the market and trade was confined generally to routine, local spreading. Offerings continued light, a factor in retarding the declines. Meagre buying was credited to mills.

World markets trade was light throughout the day and values generally lower. Liverpool closed fractionally lower. Buenos Aires held unchanged. Chicago scored small gains which were later wiped out.

For the third day in succession coarse grain sales were light.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat prices tumbled to new low levels for the season in the final minutes of trade today after prices had ruled firm during most of the session, gaining as much as 5¢ at times.

Selling of wheat in Winnipeg by prominent commission house interests with U.S. connections were said to have touched off stop loss selling here. July wheat fell to 69¢, cents, lowest in about two months, and September to 70½ cents.

Food Searchers At Tientsin

Vegetable Supplies for British Concession Delayed, Says Chamberlain

LONDON (CP)—"The barrier restrictions have remained the same," said Prime Minister Chamberlain in the course of a statement on the Japanese blockade of the British concession in Tientsin he read to the House of Commons today.

"British subjects have been stripped and searched, but no further incidents are reported in the latest telegram received from His Majesty's consul-general.

"As regards the stocks of food, there are ample supplies of flour and rice in the British concession. Arrivals of perishable foodstuffs remain spasmodic and far below normal. There would appear to be no ban on foodstuffs entering the concession, but the Japanese authorities claim that all such commodities as vegetables have to be searched at the barriers and this causes considerable delay.

"As regards shipping matters, they have considerably improved and ships using the river have latterly not been stopped by the Japanese military authorities.

"Various incidents which have marked the enforcement of the blockade have been taken up by His Majesty's ambassador at Tokyo with the Japanese minister for foreign affairs, who has promised to institute inquiries into the various cases of discrimination and ill-treatment brought to his notice."

USE OF FORCE

Harry Day, Labor, asked: Have any reports been received of any Britons roughly manhandled by the Japanese?

Mr. Chamberlain: Yes, we have had such reports.

Mr. Day: Is anything being done in these particular cases?

Mr. Chamberlain: The matter is being taken up.

Arthur Henderson, Labor: Does the Prime Minister's answer mean the Japanese government have not yet precisely formulated any grievances they have against this country, and if that be so, does it not make negotiation very difficult?

Mr. Chamberlain: Yes, it does. We hope they will formulate any grievances.

Leaders Up 2 Points

NEW YORK (AP)—Buying was concentrated in a few stocks, raising them as much as 2 points, while the market generally prolonged its drift today.

What some brokers described as "long pull" buying in anticipation of business improvement was translated into plus signs for a number of specialties.

American Can and Continental spurred more than a point as the canning stocks drew attention on favorable crop reports. Some merchandise shares were in demand, notably J. C. Penney, Celanese and Public Service of New Jersey were other outstanding gainers.

But minor losses were the rule in the usual speculative favorites, including U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Kennecott and U.S. Rubber, during the greater part of the leisurely dealings. Motor shares stiffened toward the last, erasing earlier losses in General Motors.

Trading ran at about the same pace as in the previous session, approximating 450,000 shares.

While trades in most fields were disposed to mark time awaiting developments at home and abroad, a recovery trend again was traced in corporate bonds.

Dome and McIntyre Porcupine posted small gains in the Canadian group and International Nickel lost nearly as much, but most others were under mild pressure.

Is it not the case there are a lot of Japanese subjects in the British colonies whose place could be taken by Indians?

There was no answer to this question.

Are steps actually being taken about food supplies?

Mr. Chamberlain: Yes, the matter has been under constant examination.

William Gallagher, Communist: Is the government prepared to enter negotiations before the blockade is removed?

There was no answer.

Samuel Adams, Conservative: Is the possibility of conveying food by air being considered?

Mr. Chamberlain: The whole situation is being considered. The question would arise where the food is to come from.

To a question as to whether the government was consulting Moscow with respect to China, Mr. Chamberlain replied in the negative.

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, June 22, 1939

This is not an important day in planetary direction, according to astrology, but there are menacing aspects for women. Girls should be cautious in accepting new positions or new friends.

As the Sun enters Cancer there are signs promising closer cooperation among peace-loving nations. Military and naval movements are indicated in the Seven Seas.

Women who are wage earners may find fiercer competition than usual for well-paid positions, even though large numbers of men may be withdrawn from white collar jobs.

Commercial improvement in forecast and foreign trade is to be greatly increased. Better business may tempt many persons to spend money too freely. Thrift is strongly recommended.

Vacations this summer will hold extra-ordinary interest and be unusually profitable from an educational point of view, it is prophesied. This may mean that expositions will be helpful.

Under this sway refugee problems may be widely discussed.

The stars presage an influx of war victims, including many children.

Sinkholes and Virginia Caves

About 100 miles northwest of Richmond, are some fine caves of Virginia. They are known as the Luray caverns, and are in a region of sinkholes.

A sinkhole may be nothing more than a cave with the roof fallen in. Tunnels were worn in rock by underground water, and the ceilings of the tunnels became thin and weak. Then weight of one kind or another caused the ceiling to fall in, making a sinkhole.

"Saracen's Tent" in Luray cavern.

A sinkhole can also be made by water seeping into a low part of the ground. It may wear away the soil and the upper layers of rock, leaving a large hole.

A river may drop out of sight in a sinkhole. In Kentucky there is a stream known as Hidden River. At one point it drops suddenly into the ground, and then runs through a cave-like opening for a distance of about 200 feet.

In the Alachua prairie in Florida, several small streams ran into a sinkhole. By and by so much mud and rubbish were carried into the hole that it was clogged up.

That happened in 1871. As the months went by, the water overflowed the hole and formed a pond. The pond turned into a shallow lake, four miles wide and eight miles long!

Twenty years after the sinkhole was clogged up, the lake drained away. Forces of one kind or another had cleared the sinkhole, and the water was able to run underground.

The Luray caverns of Virginia have a sinkhole one-fifth of a mile wide in front of the entrance. Around the hole is a circle of trees.

Inside the caves the visitor sees a wonderland of strange beauty. From the ceilings hundreds and hundreds of stalactites hang down. They look like "white stone icicles." They really are made of stone of a sort—of a mineral known as "travertine."

The name of "dripstone" is given to stalagmites which rise from the floor of a cave, as well as to stalactites which hang from the ceiling.

Odd and interesting names have been given parts of the Luray caverns. Among them are Dante's Inferno, Skeleton Gorge, Dream Lake, Hades, Throne Room, Diana's Bath, Fish Market, the Tower of Babel, Giant's Hall and Fat Man's Misery.

Soap Box Derby Held at Duncan

DUNCAN—The annual soap-box derby, held under the auspices of the Duncan Kinsmen Club, was run off on Coronation Avenue Hill before a crowd estimated to be over 400 people.

The first race for the fastest car was divided into 2 sections, best two out of three heats.

In the first section David Plaskett raced with Jack Fielden, who took two out of the three heats, winning a place in the finals. In the second section between Douglas Cleough and Michael Corfield, the former took the honors and placed off against Jack Fielden for the final.

The final was also run-off best two out of three heats. In the first heat it was nip and tuck with both cars going down the long hill abreast but nearing the finish line Doug Cleough drew ahead to win by inches.

In the second heat Cleough again repeated by a considerably wider margin. First prize in this race was a silver challenge cup and $5 in cash.

The next event was the coasting race for all cars. This was run off one at a time, the car coasting the longest distance winning.

Jack Fielden took this in easy fashion, beating his nearest rival by over 15 feet.

The cup for the best-made car was won by David Plaskett's red and silver bullet.

Consolation prize of the meet went to Michael Corfield. Judges were: R. O. Horsfall, Dick Horsfall and Jim Turnbull.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"Lay out my evening clothes—maybe he'll stop the next time around."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a girl of 18, very miserable because I am not popular, and I want to know why. I am good-looking. I have beautiful clothes. I belong to a good family. But I am 5 feet 10 inches tall. Could that be why I am not-dated? Aren't there any young men in the world who like tall girls? I try to be the kind of a girl a boy would admire, but I just don't seem to make the grade, somehow. Please tell me what the trouble is. MAYRE.

ANSWER: Whatever it is that makes a girl a wow with the boys is a mystery that no one has yet fathomed. All we know about it for certain is that it is a gift, and that apparently it has nothing to do with looks, or clothes, or brains, or disposition, or any other tangible asset a girl may have. For we see popular tall girls and short girls, pretty girls and homely ones, Dumb Dora and college graduates, who either have dates to burn or else are left sitting home of evenings with Mama and Papa.

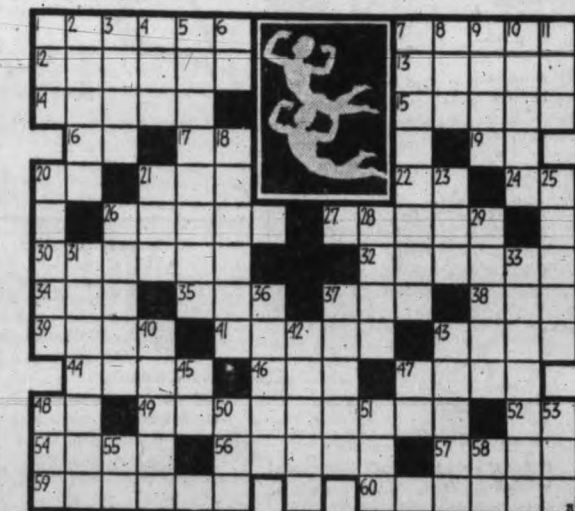

So no one can give you the magic recipe for making a hit with the lads. However, generally speaking, the best way the spider can tote the flies into her parlor is by feeding the brutes. Men will go anywhere there is plenty of good food, and any girls looks attractive to them who is surrounded by an aura of savory cooking. So get your mother to entertain a lot for you and keep the icebox well stocked for raids on it.

When you invite a boy to dinner or supper you do your stalking subtly and he never suspects you are running after him. So if you are after dates, the best way to secure them is by always keeping angel's food on the shelf.

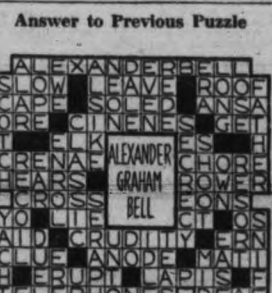

For the rest, learn how to dance—if you want to be taken out to parties. Learn how to play a good game of bridge and tennis and badminton. Don't talk too much. Don't wisecrack. Don't look too expensive. Don't brag about how many men have wanted to marry you, and what grand dates you have had.

Don't plaster on the flattery too thick, but don't skimp it either. Be natural. And never, never, never let a boy know that he is the only beau you have. DOROTHY DIX.

TRADE IN FAR EAST MAINTAINED

People Also Traveling
Via Canada in Increasing Numbers

MONTREAL—Trade between Canada and the Far East is being maintained in fair volume, said L. L. Lawler, general agent of the Canadian National Railways, at Singapore, Straits Settlements, now in Montreal. While here he is reporting to officials of the traffic department relative to matters in which Canadian National Railways are interested in the Far East, India and Ceylon.

There is a steady flow to Canada of such commodities as rubber, tea, rice, burlap, vegetable oils, tin, and canned pineapple from the territories mentioned, according to Mr. Lawler. He commented favorably on the work being done in the Far East by the Canadian trade commissioner, B. C. Butler.

Relative to the passenger situation, Mr. Lawler notes an increasing number of people traveling from the Far East to the United Kingdom to leave now choose the route across Canada and in the appropriate season, an appreciable number of these traveling via Canada are interested in a stopover in the Canadian Rockies.

Studies of college girls indicate few of them get as much vitamin C daily as is contained in a large glass of orange juice.

Summer Service Sunday

C.P.R. to Give Special Service On Triangle and Direct Routes

Around the Docks

GREEK WILL LOAD GRAIN AND LUMBER

Greek freighter Nicolau Ourania will reach port Saturday to stow grain and lumber for the United Kingdom, it was announced this morning by King Bros., local agents.

The vessel will first go under the spouts at the Ogden Point elevator of the Gillespie Grain Company to load 19,000 bushels of wheat, and will take on 500,000 feet of lumber at the Canadian National docks.

Due here tomorrow is the Greek freighter Dionysios Statatos, also for lumber.

Two Destroyers in Dock

With the floating of H.M.C.S. St. Laurent into the outer section of the graving basin by the Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd., two destroyers are occupying the Esquimalt drydock today. H.M.C.S. Restigouche, being overhauled by Yarrows Ltd., is in the forward section. Both craft will be back at the naval dockyard by the end of the week.

Minesweepers Cruising

The two Canadian minesweepers stationed on this coast, the Nootka and Comox, left Esquimalt yesterday on a routine cruise which will terminate in the vicinity of the Gulf Islands. At the week-end they are expected to be used as transports to carry militia units going to the mainland for summer training in camp.

Kingsley in Tonight

Bringing a light-British Columbia cargo from California, S.S. Kingsley of the Kingsley Navigation Company, will make Victoria at 7 tonight from San Francisco. The Kingsley put to sea from San Francisco just before the marine tie-up there in the ship clerks' dispute. After discharging here the freighter will go on to Vancouver.

Asia Out Saturday

Outbound for the Orient, S.S. Empress of Asia will sail from the Rithet Docks at 5.30 Saturday evening with passengers and cargo. She will arrive here from Vancouver at 4.

Next ship to arrive in the C.P.R. trans-Pacific service will be the Empress of Canada, scheduled to reach here Wednesday morning, June 28.

Summer schedules on the triangle route go into effect Sunday next, June 25, it was announced today by Capt. R. W. McMurray, manager of the B.C. Coast Service of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Daylight service between Victoria and Seattle by the steamers Princess Elizabeth and Princess Joan this summer will become effective June 30.

A feature of the latter service this year will be the departure of the boats from this port at 10 each morning, instead of 11, giving an extra hour in Seattle for Victorians desiring to transact business there and return the same day. The service will also speed up the motor tourist traffic between Washington state and Vancouver Island as the steamers operating on both the triangle and direct routes have unusually large automobile storage capacity.

The triangle schedule effective Sunday will be the same as last season, as follows: Princess Kathleen leave Seattle at 9 a.m. daily, arrive Victoria 12.50 p.m., instead of 1.15; leave Victoria 1.45 p.m., instead of 1.55; arrive Vancouver 5.55, instead of 6.35. Princess Marguerite leave Vancouver daily at 10.30 a.m., arrive Victoria 2.40 p.m., instead of 3.10; leave Victoria 5 p.m., instead of 4.30; arrive Seattle at 9 p.m., as at present.

On and after June 30 the direct daily schedule between here and Seattle, with the steamers Princess Elizabeth and Princess Joan alternating, will be as follows: Leave Victoria 10 a.m., arrive Seattle 3 p.m., leave Seattle 4.45 p.m., arrive back at Victoria 9.45 p.m. The Princess Elizabeth and Princess Joan will continue to maintain the midnight sailings between Victoria and Vancouver.

Marine Excursions

Three excursion trips will be made next week by the popular cruise steamer Princess Alice, James Macfarlane, general agent, Canadian Pacific Railway, stated today. On Monday, June 26, the Princess Alice will bring a crowd of excursionists here from Vancouver, arriving at 1.15 and leaving again for the mainland port at 6. Tuesday, June 27, the same boat will carry an expected capacity list of Victorians to Seattle, leaving here at 8.30 in the morning, reaching Seattle at 1.15, leaving there at 6 and returning here at 10.45.

An afternoon excursion cruise around the Gulf and San Juan Islands will be made by the Princess Alice, leaving here at 2 and returning at 8.

PAIR RESCUED BY YUKON STEAMER

Road Wander Eight
Days in Wilderness

MAYO, Y.T. (CP) — Arrival of the White Pass and Yukon Route steamer Aksala here today brought word of the rescue of "Tiny" Washbrook, formerly of Vancouver, and his partner, Alex Greig, after they had been missing for eight days in wilderness about 50 miles west of here.

Washbrook, a brother of Constable Frank Washbrook of the Vancouver police department, and Greig left the Canadian Placer Mining camp on Clear Creek, June 11, to map out a road between there and McQuesten Creek, over which a mining drill was to be hauled.

They followed a blazed trapper's trail by mistake and landed in musk and bog. Their food ran out and on June 13 they reached the Stewart River, where they built a raft to drift down stream after Washbrook's feet gave out.

Both men were suffering from hunger and the swift current of the stream prevented them from reaching shore again until the following night, when they camped on the river bank at old Stewart Crossing.

The following day their raft was wrecked in a log jam and all their equipment lost. They managed to reach an island in the river.

Their plight became worse as no river steamers appeared. They sighted moose and other game, but had no guns.

Meanwhile Pilots Everett Watson and Jesse Rice of the White Pass Company flew over the area but did not see the smoke signals sent up by the missing men and hope for their rescue dwindled. When nearly exhausted the men managed to reach shore on two logs and there found some beans in an old trapper's cabin.

The steamer Aksala found Washbrook and Greig on June 18 while en route up the river to Mayo.

After a meal aboard the vessel the two men recovered sufficiently to be left at McQuesten River and from there they proceeded back to their camp.

Capt. T. H. Watt Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Capt. Thomas H. Watt, 68, native of Collingwood, Ont., and pioneer of the Klondike gold rush, died in hospital here yesterday.

After the gold-rush days Captain Watt lived in Dawson City for several years and later moved to Prince Rupert, where he became interested in the Prince Rupert Cold Storage Co. He later was engaged in seine boat work.

Survivors include two sisters, Myrian and Daisy, in Collingwood.
